Sycamore Home Wrecked, Mother Hurt in Gas Explosion

Father, 4 Children Uninjured

House Split By Blast; Estimated $6,500 Loss Results

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE, Nov. 12—A seven-room home in Sycamore is in ruins today following an explosion of natural fuel gas which had collected in the basement. The explosion occurred at midnight Saturday.

The home, value of which was estimated at $6,500, was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sampson. It was located on E. Fifth St., on the north side of Sycamore.

The couple were downstairs when the explosion occurred. Mrs. Sampson was thrown against the ceiling, but sustained only slight cuts on her legs and shock.

Mr. Sampson and the couple's four children, aged 18 months to eight years, were unhurt. The children were asleep upstairs when the explosion occurred.

Broken Line Believed Cause

Mr. and Mrs. Sampson had been laying linoleum floor in a downstairs bathroom. They had lifted a bathroom water heater several inches from the floor and set it on blocks to facilitate the job. In doing so they apparently broke a connection in the gas line which allowed the gas to escape into an unexcavated section under the house, Mr. Sampson said.

After they were through, Mr. Sampson lighted the water heater which touched off the explosion.

The house was split through the middle. Doors were split and blown out and every window in the house was broken. Plaster was knocked off all the rooms and sections of the hardwood floor in the living room were imbedded in the ceiling. One wall of the brick foundation was knocked out completely.

House Catches Fire

The explosion set fire to the house, but the blaze was put out before any damage was done. The house is only a short distance from the Sycamore fire department.

The damage is partially covered by insurance.

The family was taken in by a neighbor last night, and they plan to live in a house next door which is being vacated until their house can be remodeled, it was reported.

Mr. Sampson is employed as a truck driver by the Warfel Coal Co. of Sycamore.

Churchill To Visit Truman In January

President's Secretary Admits Washington Conference Planned

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 12—(AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain are going to meet in Washington in January.

The meeting was announced at a news conference yesterday by Presidential Secretary Joseph Short with a casualness associated with the Truman administration's handling of important events.

Short was telling reporters at a news conference of how the President got up early Sunday and walked outside the naval submarine station where he has his quarters, and of how he swam and sunbathed at the naval submarine station.

Suddenly, a reporter asked about a story, by John M. Hightower of The Associated Press, that Churchill is expected to visit Washington early in January for talks with the President.

"Quite probably, the prime minister will be in Washington some time in January," Short said.

No Meeting Of Others

There was no indication whatsoever that the conference, certain to be delayed until after Mr. Truman has submitted his "state of the union," budget and economic messages to Congress, will involve either the French or Russians.

Argentines Set Voting Record

Peron Is Re-elected By Sweeping Majority

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 12--(AP)—A sweeping majority apparently returned President Juan D. Peron to power as Argentina's ruler for another six years in an orderly, record-breaking election yesterday.

Leaders of the Radical party—main opposition group—said this morning Peron's victory was assured on the basis of government figures and on the unofficial partial vote count.

With about one-third of the votes counted, the interior ministry announced early today that Peron had a total of 1,503,161 votes to 719,253 for Dr. Ricardo Balbin, Radical party candidate.

The pro-government press hailed Peron's victory as a vote of confidence by the people. It said his final majority will be bigger than in his first election in 1946, when he polled 55 per cent.

Radical leaders declared that women, voting for the first time in an Argentine general election, were the main instrument in the Peron victory.

The opposition claimed there had been some irregularities in the vote counting. They said that, according to their own count, at least five and possibly seven of their candidates won congressional seats in the capital, which sends 30 deputies to congress.

There were no other opposition complaints of irregularities, but Radical leaders reiterated charges that the Peronistas defrauded them during the pre-election campaign by not permitting the opposition equal campaigning facilities.

Reports by the interior ministry and the information undersecretariat gave no hint of the way the congressional elections were going. They also omitted the number of votes cast for the Communists, Socialists, Conservatives and other minor parties.

Peron in one of his pre-election speeches ordered his followers to vote for the full roster of Peronista candidates to give him strong support in congress.

A record number of voters — possibly six million—showed up at the polls, with women outnumbering the men. Forty-seven women, all Peronistas, are seeking election to the house of deputies (congress). Senora Eva Peron, ailing wife of the president, heads the powerful Peronista women's party.

"Double Talk," Pulliam Says Of State Dept.

Backs Charges Of Favoritism Towards Leftist Newspapers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—Publisher Eugene Pulliam of Indianapolis last night described as "half-truth and double talk" a State Department denial of his charge that it had favored leftist newsppers overseas with allocations of newsprint.

Pulliam addaed in a statement that he has it "on unimpeachable authority that Secretary Acheson has been encouraging the present premier of Japan to make a trade treaty with Red China.

The State Department had noted in a formal statment that Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star and News, had accused it of obtaining newsprint for left wing papers in an apparent department effort to get them to ease up on criticism of the United States.

Charges "Without Foundation"

The department asserted that it makes no such allocations and that the charges are "entirely without foundation." It added that all international allocations are arranged by a 14-nation pulp and paper committee of the international materials conference of which the United States is a member.

In his reply, Pulliam declared

Urges U.N. Take Issues Step By Step

Churchill's Deputy Conciliatory In Speech to Assembly

PARIS, Nov. 12—(AP)—Britain's foreign secretary Anthony Eden called on the Russians today to put aside major world issues temporarily and seek a step-by-step solution to the cold war.

"Let us grasp the definite and limited problems, and work for their practical solution," Eden said in a conciliatory speech before the United Nations General Assembly.

"That is the real road to peace. That is the way to make a fresh start," he declared.

Eden's speech, his first in the U. N. since the founding conference at San Francisco in 1945, was notable for its mild tone and lack of attacks on the Russians.

Small Issues First

He urged all U. N. members — including the Soviet Union—to work from the small issues to the great "with real good will."

Backing up U. S. Secretary Dean Acheson's policy statement last week on every point, Eden cited the British-French-American disarmament proposals as one example of how the East-West disputants could work from the small issues to the large.

"We suggest," he declared, that disarmament "should begin with the less important categories of armed forces and armaments, then move on to those that are more important and secret, and therefore more difficult to handle. x x x

"The sooner we can agree on the simpler categories, the sooner we shall have confidence to tackle more complex tasks."

Eden appealed to Soviet foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky to reconsider his scornful rejection of the western proposals. The Russian had submitted, instead, his own disarmament plan calling for a world arms conference.

Eden also urged, as Acheson had before him, that agreement be reached to:

1. End the war in Korea;
2. Reunite Germany through free democratic elections;
3. Give Austria a treaty ending the occupation by France, Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States;
4. Admit Italy to the United Nations.

Eden implied that the time was not yet ripe for a conference of President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill, Marshal Stalin and French Premier Rene Pleven, as French President Vincent Auriol suggested last week.

First, the foreign secretary told the assembly, the climate must be created through sincere attempts to settle limited problems "in which the kind of moving appeal which Monsieur Auriol made to us x x x can meet its full response."

"Preparation, conference and agreement: that should be the order of our endeavor. Starting from the small issues and working to the great. Steady pursuit, with a fixed determination — and with real good will," he said.

Eden's speech took on added significance by being the first policy outline put before the U. N. by Churchill's new Conservative government. The Tories lost control of the British government soon after the U. N. came into existence; they did not regain power until late last month.

The British statement was the third from a member of the Big Four world powers. The United States and Soviet Russia last Thursday outlined their programs for international peace based on disarmament.

Allies Charge Reds Stalling In Truce Talks

U.N. Negotiators Use Strong Words As Deadlock Continues

MUNSAN, KOREA, Nov. 12—(AP)—Allied truce negotiators in strong words today accused the Communists of insisting on a phoney cease-fire line merely to stall the armistice talks.

After the subcommittees had wrangled for four hours and 15 minutes, an Allied spokesman said they were no closer to an agreement on the thorny buffer zone issue. They will meet again in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Tuesday (9 p.m. EST Monday)—their 20th session.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chairman of the two-member U. N. command subcommittee, minced no words in telling the Communist negotiators:

"You intend to establish a presumptive demarcation line and demilitarized zone, which will release you of any necessity to settle the remaining items of the (armistice) agenda with speed and equity.

"You want to establish a spurious line and zone which will provide you with the leisure and freedom to continue delaying the conference."

The Reds want to fix a cease-fire line before taking up any other item on the agenda. The U. N. command insists that the line follow the war front at the time all other armistice terms are agreed upon.

U.N. Forces Seize Two Hills

U. S. EEIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, Nov. 12—(AP)—Allied troops today seized two hill positions southwest of Kumsong in an attack which pushed the Reds back three-quarters of a mile.

The Eighth Army said the attack began at dawn, and both hills were secured by 1 p.m. The Allied infantrymen ran into light to moderate fire from a Communist platoon on each peak.

Kumsong is an old Red supply base, 30 miles north of the 38th parrallel.

Patrols clashed sharply southwest and southeast of Kumsong Sunday. An Allied feeler thrust northeast of the shell-torn central front town was driven back by heavy mortar and artillery fire.

Low overcast hampered aerial strikes.

Galion Boy Wounded By Stray Shot

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 12—A 6-year-old Galion boy who was shot by a stray bullet while playing near his home yesterday, is reportedly "holding his own" in Galion City Hospital today. He is Stephen Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Freeman.

The bullet entered the child's body below the chest and passed out through his back. The bullet was not found. Galion police, who are investigating the shooting, have no clue as to who shot the gun.

The accident occurred at 3:15 yesterday afternoon. Stephen had been playing with a neighbor, "Fritz" Spears, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Spears, in a gully by Whetstone Creek near S. State Rd. The boys had been swinging on a grape vine and were climbing up a 300-foot bank to go home.

Fritz was climbing ahead when he heard Stephen say, "Wait up!" He turned around and saw the younger boy holding his side. Both boys reported hearing the shot but saw no one, as the section is thickly wooded.

Stephen was able to climb up the hill by himself. Fritz rode him on his bicycle about a block to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sherman, who took him to Galion City Hospital. Surgery was performed last night by two Galion physicians and a specialist from Mansfield. The child was given two blood transfusions last night.

Stephen, the oldest of three children, is in the first grade at West Elementary School.

Patrick Tells Farm Bureau Of Europe Trip

Speaks at Annual Meeting; New Board Members Elected

Harold Patrick, chairman of the legislative committee of the Marion County Farm Bureau, spoke on his recent tour of Europe before 425 persons at the annual meeting of the Marion County Farm Bureau Saturday night at Pleasant School.

During the tour, which was arranged by the Cooperative League of the U.S.A., Mr. Patrick visited and studied farm conditions in seven European countries.

He told the group that last summer had been wet and cold, a bad period for crops in Europe. In Scotland, his first stop, he noticed that the pastures were in excellent condition, because of the rain, but that the oats and pea crops were very poor.

He said that soil erosion is widespread in England, although the farmers are not aware of it.

Attends Congress

While in Denmark, Mr. Patrick attended the International Cooperative Congress in Copenhagen as a delegate representing the Cooperative League of the U.S.A. During visits to the other Scandinavian countries, he observed that Norway's lack of minerals rules out profitable industry and places the burden of supporting the country upon the yield from forests and crops, and that Sweden seemed more prosperous than the other countries of Europe and was the best equipped with farm machinery.

The people in Hamburg, Germany, he said, were in good spirits, even though they were rebuilding their city with hand labor. The tour also took the group to Paris, where Mr. Patrick met and talked with the French minister of agriculture.

During the business session, a rise from $5 to $10 for membership fees was explained by Dale Hartpence, educational director, and approved by the group.

Elected to Board

Kenneth Longacre, Mrs. Emerson McKelvey, Mrs. Emmet Beckel, and Mrs. Charles Bricker were elected to the board of directors, to succeed Mrs. Frank Eberl, Mrs. Ralph Roszman, Mrs. Walter Lyons, and J. Arthur Ingle. Ray Denzer, Emmett Beckel, Allen Longacre, and Bernard Coon were chosen delegates to the 1952 state annual meeting and Willard Davidson was elected to the advisory committee of policy holders in the Farm Bureau Insurance Co.

V. F. Shroats, manager of the Marion County Farm Bureau Cooperative, reported on the year's work. Mrs. Donald Johnson gave a report on home and community activities. Eighteen resolutions, presented by Robert Eisele, were approved by the group.

The program also included shadow pictures by Mrs. Melvin Keeran and four selections on the xylophone by Mrs. Cyril Bryant and her son, Larry. A one-act play, entitled "On the Dotted Line," was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Beckel, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Durham, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Myers.

Teachers From 4 States Attend

Dickey Presides At Citizenship Workshop

Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of schools in Marion, today welcomed nearly 100 teachers and school administrators from Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, and Indiana who attended the opening session of the Citizenship Education Project workshop at the Taft Elementary School in Lakewood. The workshop will continue through Friday.

Aim of the workshop, which is sponsored by the Associated Public School Systems in cooperation with Teacher's College of Columbia University, New York, is to help teachers develop community programs in which students can participate and learn the nature and values of their American citizenship.

Four other Marion educators are attending the workshop. They are Miss Marguerite Howser, teacher at Oakland Heights; Miss Philomen Gregg, principal at Pearl Street and Greenwood Street Schools; Lawrence Daly, teacher at Harding, and Cecil W. Gabler, principal at Harding.

Describes Need

Mr. Dickey, who is zone chairman of APSS, is coordinator of the workshop. In describing the need for citizenship education in our schools today, Mr. Dickey said:

"This nation's greatness stems from definite principles which are often not well understood. Its foundations rest upon our willingness to accept the obligations and responsibilities of citizens. But in this age of urban development, with its tendency to submerge the individual, our people tend to function less in citizenship roles.

"In earlier days, the skills of citizenship were mastered at town meetings or even around the cracker barrel in country stores. But today we find a need for training in such simple and fundamental skills as operation of a voting machine. As skills are lost, Communistic encroachments upon our American liberties are made easier. Thus, our purpose in developing this Citizenship Education Project Workshop with Teacher's College is to stimulate citizenship activities to the end that American principles of freedom may be preserved."

Entails Responsibilities

To help students accept American concepts as living realities and to understand that being a good citizen entails political responsibilities, each of the numerous Citizenship Education Workshops projects which have been held around the country aims at developing exciting action programs.

For instance, in a Passaic, N. J., high school where a Citizenship Education Project was developed with Teacher's College, students helped political parties get out the vote in a municipal election. They sponsored a rally attended by 1,000 persons at which all candidates spoke.

At the request of APSS, a staff headed by Dr. William S. Vincent, executive officer of the Citizenship Education Project begun under the direction of General Dwight Eisenhower, president of Columbia University, is assisting in the Lakewood project. Dr. Vincent and his aides have developed materials and programs with a grant of approximately $1,500,000 from the Carnegie Corporation.

"Probably the most important thing we do is sharpen the focus of high school students on what is involved in being a citizen and thus arouse their determination to preserve the unique values of American citizenship," Dr. Vincent says.

Two Injured In Accidents At Union Depot

Two women were injured in two separate accidents at the Union Station on W. Center St. Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Edith Kresin of Matoon, Ill., was injured early yesterday when she walked into the side of a moving Pennsylvania Railroad engine at Union Station at 12:06 a.m. Sunday.

She sustained cuts and bruises in the accident and was taken to the Marion City Hospital in a Boyd ambulance. Hospital attachos said she was in "fairly good" condition today suffering mostly from shock.

Her son, who came to Marion yesterday from Matoon, Ill., said his mother had been ill and may have walked into the side of the engine without realizing what she was doing.

Mrs. Kresin was enroute east and stopped in Marion to change from a New York Central to an Erie passenger train when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Mamie Allinder of 451 Patterson St., who was walking with a crutch because of a hip fracture suffered two months ago, fell and sustained a cut over her right eye in the Union Station drive at 9:55 p.m. Saturday, police reported today. She was taken to the Marion City Hospital in a Boyd ambulance where she was admitted for treatment and observation. She was reported in "fairly good" condition today.

Judy Garland Collapses

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 —(AP)—Actress Judy Garland, on a successful comeback trail, collapsed backstage at the Palace Theater last night after disregarding her doctor's orders not to perform.

"The show must go on," the 29-year-old singer insisted, according to her physician, Dr. Udall J. Salmon.

He had her taken from the theater in an ambulance to a private sanitarium for "a few days." The doctor said she was suffering from "nervous exhaustion."

Miss Garland collapsed shortly after becoming ill in front of her evening audience. She had played a matinee despite Dr. Salmon's earlier plea that she take the day off.

But the actress wanted to carry on at the palace, where she sparked a Broadway revival of vaudeville—and sparked her own triumphal American comeback after her career seemed doomed.

BICYCLE STOLEN

Marion police today were searching for a stolen bicycle owned by John Bull of 658 Mt. Vernon Ave. The vehicle was reported stolen at 10:10 p.m. Saturday. It was parked at the Bull home when it was stolen, police said.

Governors In Dixie Debate Issues For '52

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 12 — (AP) — Southern governors turned to the politically red-hot subject of civil rights today. Some Dixie leaders stiffened their opposition to any Democratic "Beat Truman" campaign in next year's presidential election.

Outspoken resistance to a states rights Democratic revolt was one of the surprise developments in the conference as pro-Truman forces stole the first day limelight from the President's political foes.

This stand against a revolt was certain to receive strong backing tonight from house speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. He will address the governors at their annual state dinner. Rayburn, a staunch Democrat, is reported ready to call for party loyalty from all southern Democrats regardless of who the nominee might be.

The civil rights issue, the main reason some southerners bolted the party three years ago, was raised first by Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi. He was the states righters candidate for vice presidtent in 1948.

Speaking as conference chairman, Wright declared that states rights "is a phrase embracing a philosophy of government in which we here in the south believe and take pride in defending."

Royal Couple Sail For Home

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Nov. 12 — (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh said farewell today to North America, taking home what Britain's future queen described as "new strength and inspiration."

Winding up their five-week tour which crossed 15,000 miles in Canada and the United States, Elizabeth in her nationwide radio goodby last night said Canada "has become a second home in every sense."

Her husband, in an earlier farewell address at Halifax, had said he was returning to Britain with the message that "Canada is a good investment."

A fleet of little fishing boats escorted the couple from this old port to the Empress of Scotland, on which they sailed early this afternoon for home.

Churchill

suggested a meeting of President Truman and the British, Russian and French heads of state to help ease international tension.

Ever since the British election campaigns that sent Churchill back into control of the British government, it has been a generally known fact that Churchill would re-new his old acquaintance with Mr. Truman if returned to power.

No matter what the two discuss, nothing will exceed in importance British need for financial aid.

Churchill, Short said, has had an exchange of messages with the President.

He added that he knew of no plans to include Russian Premier Stalin or French Prime Minister Rene Plevan in the discussions.

In observance of Armistice Day, all banks, and city, county and government offices were closed today.

U.S. Means To Have Peace, Says Truman

Working Hard for It After Disappointment Of 1st Armistice Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—President Truman says the United States, disappointed in the hope that the first Armistice Day would bring lasting peace, is now "determined to work for it, hard and actively, with all our resources."

"We are engaged in a great national effort to build up enough strength and economic power so we and all the peaceful nations can be secure against the threats of new aggression in the world today," the Chief Executive said.

He spoke in a broadcast yesterday. It was recorded here before he went to Key West, Fla., for a vacation.

Similar expressions were voiced by other officials in Armistice Day observances throughout the nation and abroad yesterday. Still other ceremonies of tribute to the dead of World War I, and of other wars, were planned today, the legal holiday.

Other speakers were Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, who gave a message to the troops in Korea; Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme commander in the Far East, who broadcast an appeal throughout the U.S. for blood donations; Secretary of Defense Lovett, who spoke at Arlington National Cemetery; Gen. George C. Marshall, speaking at Wayne, Pa.

In New York a military parade down Fifth Avenue ended in ceremonies at the eternal light in Madison Square Park, a shrine to war dead.

Smallpox Vaccinations Stop Bloodmobile Visit to Crestline

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Nov. 12—A scheduled visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile visit to Crestline has been canceled due to the mass vaccination for smallpox being carried on here.

The vaccination began after two Pennsylvania Railroad employes became ill with the disease. Pennsylvania Railroad doctors and Crestline health authorities have been vaccinating railroad employes and school children.

The bloodmobile visit cancellation was reported by Mrs. Robert Heibershausen, service chairman of the Crestline chapter of the American Red Cross. She said persons who had been vaccinated would not be suitable as blood donors for at least four weeks after the vaccination. A bloodmobile visit will probably be set for some time after Jan. 1, she said.

Several hundred railroad employes and several school children have already been vaccinated by health authorities and railroad doctors. Two Pennsylvania Railroad doctors and two nurses gave free vaccinations to all comers in Crestline Thursday and Friday.

Dr. T. R. Laughbaum of the Crawford County health department made the school vaccinations assisted by county health nurses.

Hogs

reported he had them into a field of standing corn and had not noticed their absence. Several other hogs remained in the field and he had made no check of the number, he said.

The 35 swine turned up a week ago in the front yard and garden at the Stone home. Mr. and Mrs. Stone herded them into a field adjoining the yard and closed a gate to keep them inside.

Deputies said the animals apparently left the corn field when they discovered a broken anchor post on a fencer corner.

The Stone home where the animals were penned is nearly three miles from the Anderson farm on County Road 27. The Stone residence is located a mile and a half west of Meeker on Route 30-S.

Mr. Anderson said when he placed additional feed in the field for the swine it was after dark and he made no check on the number of animals.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone had checked their nearest neighbors in an effort to locate the owner but when this failed they contacted the sheriff. The swine were returned to the Anderson farm.

Awaits Word From Truman

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 12—(AP)—A retired World War One Army captain today awaited word from President Truman in answer to the question: "has my criticism of the administration kept my dead son from getting the Congressional Medal of Honor?"

Eugene R. Guild, now a Glenwood Springs rancher, wrote the President Nov. 1. He says he has received no word from the White House or Defense Department as yet.

"No comment," presidential press secretary Joseph Short said last night in Key West, Fla., where the President is vacationing.

In his letter to Mr. Truman, Guild said his son, 25-year-old Marine Lt. John Guild, and another officer, Lt. Henry Alfred Commiskey, fought side by side during a battle for Hill 85 near Inchon in Korea. Commiskey survived and was awarded the Medal of Honor—the nation's highest military award. Guild died Sept. 20, 1950, and a Navy Cross was posthumously awarded.

Guild, in releasing his letter to reporters late Saturday, emphasized that he is not challenging Lt. Commiskey's right to the medal.

Guild, in the letter, said he had critized administration policy by calling for the bombing of Communist supply lines in Korea; using the atom bombs; opposing the draft; and complaining of official refusal to permit his son's gravestone in Arlington National Cemetery to bear the inscription, "Killed in Korea."

CRASH ORPHANS 11

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 12.—(AP) — Fifteen-year-old Gerard Moore bit his lips and tried his hardest to be a brave man today. A shocking tragedy had killed his parents, leaving him the head of a household of 11 orphans. The children's parents, Murray J. Moore, 36, and Mary Jean Moore, 33, were killed Saturday when a car filled with beer-drinking teenagers crashed head-on into the Moores' auto. Four of the five teen-agers were killed.

3 Injured In Accidents

All Require Hospital Treatment

Three persons were injured in three accidents which occurred on district highways over the week-end, the state highway patrol reported today.

Raymond Fattig, 49, of near La Rue is in "fairly good" condition today in Marion City Hospital where he was taken after suffering a fractured skull and severe lacerations of the head in an accident Saturday night.

His car struck the rear of a dump truck owned by the Quaker Oats Co. and driven by Fredric F. Haas, 19, of 202 Forest Lawn Blvd., as both were traveling west on Route 95, a mile west of Marion, at 6:40 p.m. Moderate damage to the vehicles was reported. Fattig was taken to the hospital by a Gunder ambulance.

Walter E. Worley, 35, of Bristol, Va., suffered scalp lacerations when the tractor and semi-trailer he was driving struck a telephone pole on Route 23 seven miles south of Marion at 2:55 a.m. Sunday. He was released yesterday from Marion City Hospital, where he was taken by a passing motorist.

The tractor was demolished and the front end of the trailer damaged.

A car driven by Ted Orr, 38, of Akron struck a road grader parked by the side of the road on Route 42, just north of Ashley, Sunday at 4:45 a.m. The front end of the car was demolished. The road grader, owned by the Union Asphalt Co. of Ostrander, was not damaged.

Orr suffered abrasions of the head, knee, and ankle, and a possible chest injury. He was taken to Delaware City Hospital by the Lee ambulance of Ashley.

Hits Use Of Atomic Bases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) said today the United States ought to abandon any atomic bases it has in England.

The Coloradan, a member of the Senate-House atomic energy committee, declared there is "no excuse for making the British people a target" for an enemy attack. He suggested A'merican bases in the British Isles might provoke an attack.

Johnson told a reporter that in any event no consideration should be given to such bases in any study this country should extend additional financial help to Great Britain.

Low-Down on a high-powered Performer

Let us tell you this:

The Buick pictured here packs more power than you find in any other car of its size and room and price.

That's the power of Buick's newest high-compression valve-in-head eight—the F-263 Fireball Engine, that really gets miles from a gallon of gas.

Add to this the fact that it tips the scales at 3817 pounds curbside—and you begin to see why this big-powered beauty is such a nimble-footed number out on the road.

But that's only Chapter I of the performance story.

There's a big-car feel to the way this trim traveler covers the ground—hugs the curves—holds its course on the straightaway—smothers the bumps with its big soft coil springs on all four wheels.

There's big-car room inside—six-passenger room—headroom, hip-room, shoulderroom, kneeroom, front and back.

Come in, look it over, and we think you'll agree—it's big in everything but price.

And that's where it really shines. If you've shopped around you'll know what we mean when you read the price tags, and what they include in the way of standard equipment that shows up as "extras" on so many others. Such things as an oil filter, air cleaner, vacuum booster, built-in summer ventilation are all yours at no extra charge.

It's hard to believe but it's true. If you can afford a new car, you can afford this Buick at the prices we're quoting today.

Better come in and look this smart buy over.

700,000 Unit Figure Sought

Fight On In Washington For Compromise Ceiling On New Homes Next Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 —(INS)— Economic stabilizer Eric Johnston appears to be winning a partial — but far from complete—victory in his campaign for a drastic cut in 1952 home construction.

Johnston wants to limit home building next year to 500,000 new units but there are no takers in the government for his sweeping and highly controversial suggestion.

Instead a compromise is being worked out between Johnston's office and other federal officials that would allow construction of at least 700,000 new homes and apartments in 1952.

This represents a reduction of about 18 per cent from the housing goal of 850,000 units established several months ago by the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The 700,000 figure also compares with the one million homes expected to be started this year and the 1,396,000 put into construction in the record-breaking year of 1950.

JOHNSTON WANTS to sharply limit home building and construction of new industrial plants next year because he claims such work will fan the flames of inflation.

A number of top federal economists are puzzled by Johnston's statement and one Federal Reserve Board official asks: "What's so different from an inflation standpoint between 500,000 units and 850,000?"

Others point out that the Johnston proposal would actually intensify inflationary pressures because prices for second-hand houses would skyrocket as the competition from new home construction declines.

MOREOVER, OFFICIALS say high level housing output is required to alleviate the continuing post-war home shortage and provide a market for civilian goods production. The national elections next year also raises important political considerations against drastic building cuts.

Finally, housing experts are agreed that the government would have great difficulty enforcing the economic stabilizer's recommendations if they were adopted.

The fact is the government now has no effective method of reducing home building to a 500,000 unit level and still adequately control the program so that essential housing needs are met.

To do the job, the government would have to set up a system under which federal permits are granted each home builder. This would involve tremendous amounts of red tape and money and authority from Congress.

HOUSING ADMINISTRATOR Raymond M. Foley probably will agree to a reduction in the nation's housing goal simply because of the extremely critical situation in the supplies of materials.

Although defense production officials have programmed enough materials to carry out the 850,000-unit goal in the first three months of the new year, the situation will grow worse next spring.

GALION HOSPITAL BIRTHS

GALION — City Hospital births: a daughter, Monday, to Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Probst of Galion; a son, Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cramer of Galion; a daughter, born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Weber of near Galion; a son, born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. John Champion of Galion.

HELD IN ROBBERY. James Joseph Leather (above), 36, of Chicago, sits behind desk in police station in Waukegan, Ill., after he and three companions, including a red-haired woman, were arrested in connection with the $93,000 robbery of a Milwaukee, Wis., bank earlier in the day. Sheriff Walter Atkinson of Lake County, Ill., said Leather made an oral statement that he took part in the holdup. The four captured persons were taken to Milwaukee by FBI agents and sheriff's deputies.

Rotary District Governor To Visit Marion Club

Making his annual visit to the Marion Rotary Club Tuesday at its weekly luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding will be Thomas Bartlett of North Baltimore, O., governor of the 227th Rotary District.

His talk will deal with Rotary and the work which the club does. Immediately following the luncheon, all board members and committee chairmen will meet with Mr. Bartlett for an assembly period.

Mr. Bartlett is head of a North Baltimore insurance agency.

The Marion Kiwanis Club will hold a ladies night party Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Hotel Harding. A special program has been arranged. For those unable to attend the evening affair, a make-up meeting will be held at noon at the hotel.

Prince of Peace Contest Held

In a Prince of Peace declamation held Sunday night at Prospect Street Methodist Church, Ronnie Owens was the winner, presenting the declamation "The Big Binge" by John Peters. He was awarded a bronze medal.

A senior at Harding High School, Ronnie is a son of Rev. and Mrs. Evan Owens of 183 S. Prospect St. By winning this contest, he will participate in the county contest to be held in December.

Others taking part were Miss Rozella Gettys, who gave the declamation, "A Disciplined Life" by Mrs. Joan Kelm, and Dean Shelton, whose declamation was "Ralph Bunche" by Gwendolyn Schwartz.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

Mildred Grey's cheeks crimsoned at my little tribute to her, and her eyes were starry.

"I am so glad," she breathed. "I was afraid you'd disapprove. I wouldn't like to deceive Bill about my not knowing that he was getting his first information about your father's offer from someone else."

"I think 'deceive' is too harsh a word." I told her, keeping my lips from twitching with a distinct effort. "According to your own words a few seconds ago, you have planned to have one of us tell Bill that we have acted without consulting you, but that we do intend to tell you what we have done. That 'deception' is merely a matter of timing. I don't think the action deserves so severe an epithet."

"But," she reasoned earnestly, "I get off scot free. I don't have to voice any deceptions. Bill will believe that I know from you what your father's plan is for me, and will go on from there. You or Uncle Dicky will be the ones who have to voice the—"

She hesitated, evidently reluctant to utter the "short and ugly word," and this time I did not attempt to hide my friendly amusement, instead gave her a comradely grin as I finished her sentence for her.

" 'Taradiddle,' in my judgment, is the harshest word you should use," I told her, then suddenly injected a bit of militance into my voice.

"Snap out of it, Mildred!" I adjured her. "I know, nobody better, the rigid standards in which you have been reared. But—this is wartime. You are entering the service of your country. You will have to use—strategy, let us say—many times. You must adjust your values, and not permit your conscience to drive you too rigidly. Otherwise, you are going to be unhappy—and make others unhappy also."

She lifted her head, and gave me a long, steady look.

"Thank you, Aunt Madge," she said. "You have given me back my self-respect. I see things clearly now. I shall not fail you again, and I am sure Bill, also, will not disappoint your father."

I rose at that. There was no use in prolonging an interview which had given me such satisfaction. With faint surprise in her eyes, she rose with me. Then I crossed to her side, and gave her a little tap on the shoulder.

"My feeble substitute for an accolade, dear girl!" I told her. "Now does my father wish to talk to you again?"

"I think not," she said. "He gave me very thorough and detailed instructions as to what I would be expected to do at college. But—he probably will wish to know why I wanted to see you."

"I'll satisfy him fully on that score," I told her, and with a sudden impulsive movement, she flung her arms around me and hugged me tightly.

"Oh," Aunt Madge!" she exclaimed. "Can you realize what this program of your father's means to me, and what it will mean to my family? It's like being snatched from hell to heaven."

"I understand very well," I told her, "for I remember vividly certain—crises—in my own life. And now, shall we go back and join the others?"

She loosened her arms from around me, but I put my own hands on her shoulders, and kissed her tenderly.

"That's for Godspeed, my dear," I whispered, and then, with my hand under her elbow, we went back into the living room.

A Religious Service

Although a funeral director has many functions to perform before and during a funeral service, it is important that he remember at all times that the final rites are a religious service. The performance of his duties should not interfere with the religious part of the service, but should be carried out in a quiet and inconspicuous manner.

We, at the Schaffner-Denzer Funeral Home, make very sure that everything is taken care of completely, but we never allow our efficient, and conscientious attention to duty to detract from or interfere with the religious services.

Provisions of New Law Explained

Railroaders in Line for Higher Retirement, Survivor Benefits

Higher retirement and survivor benefits are in store for most of the nation's railroad workers and their families as a result of amendments to the Railroad Retirement act approved by President Truman Oct. 30. Included are several hundred residents of Marion.

estimates that 250,000 retired railroad employes will receive increases averaging 30 percent, and 150,000 survivors of deceased employes will get increases averaging 45 percent in their monthly benefits. The first checks to include some increases will go out about Dec. 1. Other increases will be made as soon thereafter as possible. No action is required by any beneficiary until notified by the board.

The new law does not change the tax-rate schedule.

Here is a run down of the principal changes:

▶ (1) Most retirement benefits will first be raised by 15 percent. The higher payments will go to all persons now on the rolls as well as to those who will retire in the future. The maximum annuity now payable will rise from $144 to $165.60 a month.

▶ (2) A monthly benefit will be allowed for the wife of a retired employe over age 65, if she is also over age 65 or has children under 18. This benefit amounts to 50 percent of the retired employe's benefit up to a maximum of $40. The wives of about 80,000 retired employes currently receiving benefits will be able to qualify for this benefit immediately. The maximum payable to a man and wife will be $205.60; eventually, combined benefits above $250 will be possible.

▶ (3) Service after age 65 is now creditable toward retirement, but the most service that can be counted when service before 1937 is included is still 30 years.

▶ (4) The monthly benefits payable to the survivors of deceased railroad employes will be increased by 33 1/3 percent and lump-sum death payments by 25 percent. The maximum amount payable to a family will rise from $109 to $160 a month.

▶ (5) A survivor will now be permitted to earn $50 a month in social security employment without losing that month's annuity payment.

▶ (6) A new minimum provision is added which will guarantee that both retirement and survivor benefits paid under the railroad system, together with any social security benefits which may be payable, will in no case be less than the benefit the social security system would have paid if railroad employment were covered by that system. This will in many cases produce increases over and above those already mentioned.

▶ (7) In the future, employes who retire with less than 10 years of railroad service, and the survivors of those who die with less than 10 years of service, will receive their benefits under the Social Security Act the same as though the railroad service had been performed under that act.

▶ (8) A reduction will be made in the amount of retirement benefits payable to an employe who is also entitled to a retirement benefit under the social security system and who worked in railroad employment before 1937.

Your Good Health

Treating Reaction to Serum

We can guard against the worst effects of many diseases through injections of immunizating serums. They are valuable not only in preventive medicine, but also after exposure to disease in many instances. The person, for example, who suffers a deep puncture wound or any dirty injury is exposed to the possibility of lockjaw or tetanus. This serious disorder can be prevented if he is immediately given an injection of antitetanic serum.

Similarly, a person who has been exposed to diphtheria without previous immunization can be protected by a large dose of diphtheria antitoxin, also a serum preparation.

Though so beneficial in their effects, these serums hold their own dangers. Either of them may cause a reaction, known as serum sickness, eight to twelve days after the injection is given. The symptoms are fever, pain in the joints, skin rash, and swelling of the lymph glands.

Serum sickness may develop in from five to ninety per cent of those receiving the serum. A large dose of serum is more likely to produce a reaction than a small one.

Horse serum, from which the above - mentioned preparations are derived, apparently causes more reactions than do those from other sources. It is believed that severe reactions which may occurr are most probably due to allergy to the serum.

Thus, before patients are given any form of serum, it should be determined whether they had previously received the serum and whether they are allergic to it. Any history of an allergic condition, such as hives, asthma, hay fever, or some other form of sensitivity should be a warning sign to administer the serum with extreme care.

All patients should be skin-tested to determine whether or not they are sensitive to the serum before it is given. If they are sensitive, the serum should be given in small, divided doses and the patient watched carefully. If a serium reaction does occurr, the use of anti-histaminic drugs or epinephrine may be of help in relieving the symptoms.

Leading Teams Beginning To Eye Bowl Bids

Illini Seen As Shoo-In To West Coast

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP)—Coaches and athletic directors of the country's top football teams—a cautious lot—were walking around their campuses with fingers crossed today, afraid even to thinks of the games coming up.

Every time they began to think of the coming bowl games and perhaps start figuring what's going in the cash box, they shudder and think back to what happened to Southern California.

The big, powerful Trojans were the shoo-ins of the Pacific Coast Conference, especially after they bounced undefeated California, the pre-season favorite, several weeks ago. The coast title and the gold and glory of the Rose Bowl were virtually theirs.

Overlooked

But Stanford, completely overlooked before the start of hostilities, crashed the Trojan hopes Saturday with a 27-20 victory.

Now they're saying the Indians can't miss. But can they? They probably can beat Oregon State without much trouble this week, but the following week they go against California, which still is not rated a pushover. Southern Cal has only one more game—a Nov. 24 date with UCLA.

Same thing in the Big Ten. Illinois—another school overlooked in the pre-season dope—boasts a 4-0 mark after trouncing Iowa, 40-13, Saturday. But Michigan and Wisconsin each have 3-1 marks, and all three still have two conference games to play.

Illinois tangles with Ohio State and Northwestern. Michigan meets the same pair while Wisconsin goes against Iowa and Minnesota. If defending champion Michigan wins, the Wolverines won't go to the Rose Bowl, since a Big Ten rule prohibits the same school from playing there two years in a row.

It would seem that Wisconsin has the easiest task. The Badgers nipped Penn, 16-7, but Michigan dropped before Cornell, 20-7, Saturday, in a couple of Big Ten-Ivy League games.

Tennessee probably is the only team that can take things moderately easy—with the exception of Georgia Tech, which already has accepted an invitation to the Orange Bowl in Miami. The Vols, masters of the Southeastern Conference, had a 60-14 limbering up exercise at the expense of Washington and Lee and need worry only about Kentucky.

Even if the slow starting Behemoths from the Blue Grass should beat Tennessee, Gen. Bob Neyland's outfit would get into some bowl—Sugar, Cotton or Orange. Babe Parilli and his Kentucky outfit could do it, too. They trimmed Tulane, 37-0, Saturday.

Ashworth Leads Harding to Cross Country Title

Places First In Running At Columbus

Harding's cross country track team rang down the curtain on the 1951 season Saturday at Columbus by coming home winners of the Central District A.A.U. high school division race.

John Ashworth won individual honors by running the course in a flat 10:26. His mark was seven seconds better than the winning time in the college division. Horrocks of Ohio Wesleyan won that division in 10:33.6. Ashworth's mark also bettered the record for the state meet course set last week by George Leith of Cleveland West Tech. Leith won that race in 10:36.

28 Points

The Prexy harriers won the race with a total of 28 points. A Schiller Recreation team from Columbus, composed of the top runners from Columbus South and Linden-McKinley High Schools, was second with 36 points. Ohio Wesleyan posted 27 points to place first in the college event ahead of Ohio State with 28.

The Harding crew was awarded a large trophy for their winning. Ashworth, Ted Price, Frank Green and Dick Coulson received gold medals for finishing in the top 10.

Results of the high school meet follow:

(1) John Ashworth (H) 10:26; (2) Blackburn (Worth); (3) Tod Price (H); (4) Bivens (Worth); (5) Williams (Worth); (6) Wolfe (Schiller); (7) Bowen (Sch); (8) Green (H); (9) Coulson (H); (10) Rose (Sch); (11) Bollinger (H); (12) Holmes (Sch); (13) Dee Price (H); (14) Thomas (H); (15) Dutton, Marion Independent.

Praise From Leahy

Munn Given Credit For Walloping Notre Dame

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 12—(AP)—Coach Biggie Munn probably is the only man who could have predicted Michgan State's astounding 35-0 football walloping of Notre Dame Saturday.

Most of the so-called experts were going along with Michigan State. But even the MSC backers figured on a high scoring game with Michigan State winning by one, or possibly two touchdowns.

There was no one with the audacity to suggest that the old master of football, Frank Leahy, would be handed one of the worst defeats of his Notre Dame coaching career.

No one realized that Michigan State had developed into a power that could hand the Irish their worst defeat since the Army Juggernauts of 1944 and 1945 rolled over them 59-0 and 48-0.

Astute Judge

Munn, an astute judge of football, has been telling his squad all season that they were potentially great.

Flashes of this greatness were shown in every game. But in nearly every game the Spartan scoring machine would sputter as the players fumbled, made mistakes and were caught with their defenses down. In its last four games Michigan State had to come from behind to win and became known as a second-half ball club.

"You could be a whale of a team," Munn told his squad. "But you've got to work to do it. You've got to block and tackle and run with all your might and, above all, you've got to listen to your coaches."

The lop-sided victory propelled the Spartans back into the thick of the first for first-place national honors.

Munn's phone rang constantly yesterday as congratulatory messages poured in.

The Spartan coach jubilantly declared:

"This was the greatest performance of a Spartan team in the five years I've coached them."

Different Slant

Back in South Bend, Ind., Coach Leahy took a different slant. Michigan State used 41 men to smother the Irish, but Leahy thought the chief executioner wasn't in the lineup.

"It was that fellow, Biggie Munn," said Leahy. "What a terrific coaching job he did on us.

"Those boys didn't make a mistake and when we made any they were quick to pounce on them. Their play was wonderfully coordinated. Their quarterbacking was flawless.

"Michigan State has great personnel and tremendous depth but Biggie got the very most out of it."

"Munn deserves a world of credit."

Waldo Begins Cage Drills

Waldo High School's cage hopefuls have stepped up the tempo of the drills in prepping for Friday night's opening tilt against Ostrander.

Coach William Agler has 18 candidates in the sessions, including five lettermen from last year's squad. The lettermen are Junior Schultz, Jack Shoaf, Bill Axline, Donald McKenzie and Don Schultz. Other candidates are Dorrance Retterer, Don Crouthers, George Richardson, Wayne Yake, Donald Yake, George Yake, Howard Yake and Roy Klingell.

Following Friday night's game the schedule is as follows: at Radnor, Nov. 20; at Berlin, Nov. 27; Mecker here, Nov. 30; at Galion, Dec. 7; at Magnetic Springs Dec. 11; at Hyatts, Dec. 18; Marion here, Dec. 21; at Iberia, Dec. 28; at Martel, Jan. 4; Caledonia, here Jan. 11; at Prospect, Jan. 12; Claridon here, Jan. 18; at New Bloomington, Jan. 25 at Ostrander, Jan. 29; Pleasant here, Feb. 1; at Magnetic Springs, Feb. 5; at Green Camp, Feb. 8.

"Old College Try," Says Coach

Browns Rally To Whip Stubborn Eagles, 20-17

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12—(AP)—The Cleveland Browns, whipped in the statistics and apparently outlucked, mixed professional know-how with the "old college try" to edge the Philadelphia Eagles.

After the 20-17 win yesterday, Coach Paul Brown put it this way in explaining the rally that overcame Philadelphia 10-0 half time lead:

"We were like the fighter who comes out for the first round and immediately gets belted right on the button. We staggered around until the thing was half over.

"At the half we regained our senses. The bugs cleared, you might say. And we changed our plans, too."

Roar Back

With some blocking and defensive assignments changed, the Browns roared to two touchdowns and two field goals in the second half while allowing the Eagles only one touchdown—and that on a lucky break after the score had been tied.

A Philadelphia punt took a bad bounce and grazed Bob Oristaglio, a Brown end who was backing up hunting a block. Bob Grant fell on the ball for Philadelphia on the Brown one and Adrian Burk ran over.

Oristaglio was so upset he broke out in tears. But four plays later Cleveland scored a matching touchdown on an 18-yard pass from Otto Graham to Dante Lavelli.

Graham says the throw was "pure luck." He had told Lavelli to Z-out toward the sideline but then changed his mind and threw it down the center. Lavelli snatched it on the goal and fell over.

Warren Lahr intercepted an Eagle pass after the next kickoff and ran to the Philadelphia 20, setting up Lou Groza's clinching field goal which went 14 yards. Groza's other three-pointer sailed 37 yards and came in the third period after the Browns had moved 43 yards in six plays.

Third Period TD

It was also in the hird period that the Browns went 51 yards in four plays for their first touchdown. Graham tossed a screen pass to Ken Carpenter for the last 22.

Oristaglio was not the only one emotionally keyed up. Once near the end when Chick Jagade was trying to keep an Eagle runner from reaching the sidelines and stopping the clock, a Philadelphia water boy got so excited he belted the Brown back over the helmet with the bucket. There was no penalty — they were off the field.

Brown said he was "glad we got out alive" and remarked the Eagles were "certainly 'colked up' for the game."

Xavier Uses "I" Formation On Defense

CINCINNATI, Nov. 12—(AP)—Ed Kluska, the man who specializes in making it difficult for Xavier university's football opponents to gain any ground, has put an "I" in defense

William and Mary and Notre Dame have been using an "I" formation on offense but Kluska came up with the new wrinkle in yesterday's game between Xavier lines up with a five-man formation on defense

Here is how it's done

Xavier lines up with a five-man line Directly behind the middle man, four other players line up in a row The last man in the line is flanked by two other players so that actually it looks like a Roman "I"

Then when the opposing team moves into its offensive formation the six Xavier players behind the line peel off an instant before the ball is snapped into positions required to meet the offensive maneuver

How did it work?

John Carroll wound up with a net loss of 18 yards by rushing in dropping a 41 to 0 decision to unbeaten Xavier

And the University of Cincinnati apparently can look for it to be used next Saturday when U C and Xavier get together in a battle between the state's last two undefeated teams

"We've been experimenting with the 'I' for some time," Kluska said 'We felt that John Carroll might give us the opportunity to try it in a game It helped us"

In making that statement, Kluska also was referring to the use of an "I" on offense The Musketeers also tried that against John Carroll

Veterans and Draftees Guide — By Major Thomas M. Nial

"Until recently," a reader writes me, "I was classified 3-A with both my wife and widowed mother solely dependent on me 'I've just been reclassified 1-A since I'm childless. But my mother is still living with us and dependent on me Shouldn't I be 3-A?"

Only if your induction 'would result in extreme hardship and privation" to either your wife or mother or both

If you had a child or children your 3-A classification would come automatically. You wouldn't have to prove "extreme hardship" but just "maintain a bona fide family relationship" with the children in your home.

With other dependents it's different Other dependents who may rate you a 3-A deferment are restricted to your wife, divorced wife, parent, grandparent, brother and sister It also includes any person under 18, or of any age if physically or mentally handicapped, if you've taken on his or her support "in good faith"

NOT ONLY MUST they be dependent on you, but your induction must mean real hardship to them That's something which only your draft board can decide

Any draft board which is on the ball is going to investigate pretty thoroughly to see what sources of income the family has or could have And one factor the board will take into consideration is the Class Q Dependency Allotment you can make out after you're drafted

As a raw recruit you can have $40 deducted from your basic pay each month for a Class Q allotment It can't be any more or any less The government will add $45 to it if you claim only one dependent and that dependent will then get $85 a month Or the government will add $67 50 for two dependents, and they'll get $107 50 a month

A wife need not prove actual dependency for the Class Q allotment She must prove dependency and hardship for a draft deferment, but just the fact that she's married to the serviceman is enough for allotment purposes

Parents must be dependent on the serviceman for more than half their support to qualify for the Class Q allotment. You say your mother is solely dependent on you, and if she is, 'undoubtedly she'd qualify

YOUR LOCAL BOARD will have to decide whether your wife and mother can get by on $107 50 a month And if not, whether your wife could work and add to the family income Or whether your mother has other children who could support her Or whether there are othe sources of income for the family

If you know for sure your wife or mother really will undergo "extreme hardship and privation" with you in service, see your Government Appeal Agent for advice. Get his name from your local board

If your "appeal period" is not yet over, you may go before your board in person to explain your case and then appeal later if you're still 1-A The appeal period is the 10 days following the date your Notice of Classification was mailed to you. (Not the date you received it)

If the appeal period is over, your Government Appeal Agent may appeal for you if he is convinced an injustice may have been done.

In any case, he can advise you what facts about your dependency situation should bet into your draft file in writing.

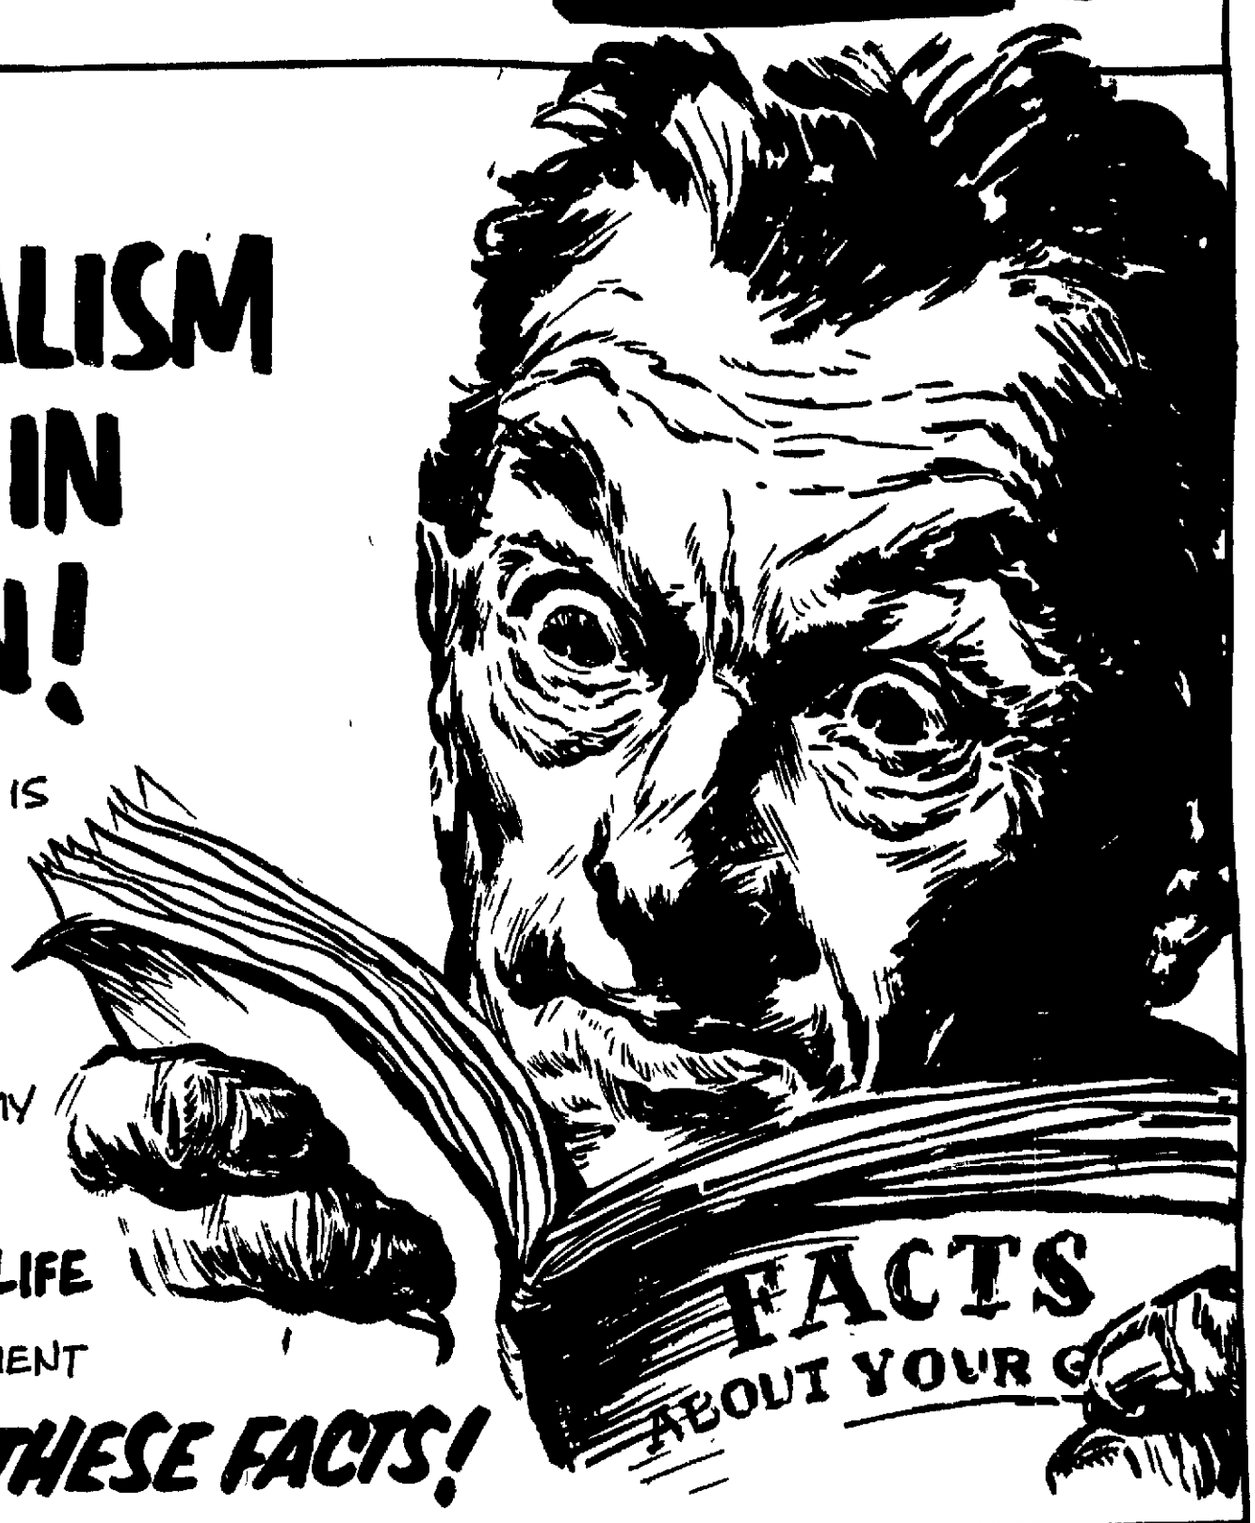
SHOCKING—BUT TRUE!

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR—

THERE'S MORE SOCIALISM IN AMERICA THAN IN SOCIALIST BRITAIN!



THE PURPOSE OF THE BRITISH SOCIALIST GOVERNMENT IS

TO PLAN THE LIVES OF THE PEOPLE

- BY TAXING THE EARNINGS OF THE PEOPLE
- BY OWNING AND OPERATING THE MAJOR INDUSTRIES
- BY WIDESPREAD CONTROLS OVER THE BRITISH ECONOMY

THE PURPOSE OF OUR AMERICAN GOVERNMENT WAS TO

ALLOW EACH INDIVIDUAL TO PLAN HIS OWN LIFE

—WITH THE LEAST POSSIBLE INTERFERENCE FROM GOVERNMENT

BUT LOOK AT THESE FACTS!

TAXES	GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP	GOVERNMENT CONTROL
IN 1950, TOTAL TAXES IN SOCIALIST BRITAIN AVERAGED $181 FOR EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN 1950, TOTAL TAXES IN AMERICA AVERAGED $261 FOR EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD	OUR GOVERNMENT OWNS OR IS FINANCIALLY INVOLVED IN OVER 100 IMPORTANT BUSINESS ENTERPRISES THE TOTAL INVESTMENT IS FAR GREATER THAN THE VALUE OF ALL THE INDUSTRIES WHICH HAVE BEEN NATIONALIZED BY SOCIALIST BRITAIN!	THE ONE-TIME HEAD OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY IN AMERICA HAS SAID THAT THE ACTUAL CONCENTRATION OF GOVERNMENT POWER OVER THE NATIONAL ECONOMY IS PROBABLY GREATER IN THE UNITED STATES THAN IN SOCIALIST BRITAIN!

WHY DID ALL THIS HAPPEN IN AMERICA?

IN A RECENT SURVEY, 2 OUT OF 3 AMERICANS UNKNOWINGLY BELIEVED IN THE PRINCIPLES OF SOCIALISM! THEY DID NOT UNDERSTAND OR INSIST ON A MORAL PURPOSE FOR OUR GOVERNMENT!

LIFE, LIBERTY, PROPERTY — these three gifts of God preceded all man-made laws and are superior to them.

So every individual has a right to protect these gifts against interference from any source whatsoever. If government is to have a moral purpose, it must protect these individual God-given rights for every person.

Therefore, the purpose of our government must be—

"TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S GOD-GIVEN LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP — AND THESE LAWS MUST ALSO PROTECT THE PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF."

Since an individual cannot lawfully interfere with the Life, Liberty or Property of another individual,—then a moral government cannot lawfully interfere with the God-given Life, Liberty or Property of individuals or groups.

GUIDE TO FREEDOM

JUDGE ALL LAWS BY ASKING THIS QUESTION: "DOES THIS LAW PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL IN HIS GOD-GIVEN RIGHT TO LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF?"

Annual Report Reviews Projects

Past Year Active One For Marion Chamber

A campaign to eliminate railroad crossings in Marion may be stepped up during the next year by a special committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, the annual activities report of the chamber indicated today.

The Grade Crossing Elimination Committee, headed by Floyd G. Browne as chairman, plans to place a proposal before City Council in the near future requesting a $15,000 appropriation to be used in making a survey. It will cover arterial traffic routes through the city and planning, estimating and locating the cost of grade crossing eliminations, the report said the request may be placed before Council before the end of the year.

The committee decided to ask permission from Chamber directors to make the request of Council. A subcommittee comprising A. F. Busch, chairman, C. R. Kilbourne and C. F. Parshall was named pending receipt of final permission from the directors.

Had Deferred Action

Mr. Browne in preparing his report said action had been deferred because of important legislation before Council during the past year. He said the problem was considered important because of the wide public interest in the crossing elimination problem. He pointed to the numerous delays caused truck and auto traffic by trains and railroad activities in the city. The directors approved the plan and said the report when completed would be used in obtaining state and federal funds for the eliminating project.

Other Projects

Other important Chamber activities and projects during the past year also were listed in the report. These included the following:

Action assuring the B F Goodrich Co. of co-operation in setting up its new plant near Green Camp.

The Chamber also went on record in favor of a new Marion Civic Center. This area, to house all public office buildings, would be constructed in the area of S. State St. and S. Main St. between Columbia and Church Sts.

County and township zoning also was approved to protect areas from nuisance building on the fringe of the city. The board of directors also endorsed a bond issue endorsed by voters at the May primary election.

Civic Improvements

The board also took several important steps for the betterment of the city during the year. These included protests against curtailment of flight service to and from Marion by the TWA made to the Civil Aeronautics Board, curtailment of passenger service to and from Marion by the C & O Railroad and an appeal to City Council to oppose a requested rate increase by the Ohio Associated Telephone Co.

The report lists several projects on which further action is planned during the next year.

A committee headed by John Prichard will carry on a program toward setting up a city-wide building code. The committee is working in conjunction with City Council in setting up this code. A study also is being made by a committee headed by Cleo Ludwig on the water system of Marion. They expect to complete the study in the near future.

A drive also will be continued to obtain more housing in the city. Progressive industrial relations will be continued by the Chamber in its efforts to persuade more industrial firms, to locate in Marion.

Morrow County Folks Proud Of New Hospital

MT. GILEAD—Morrow County folks point with pride to their new hospital building which will give good hospitalization service.

Following the passage of the hospital bond issue a bi-partisan building commission was named. Dr. G. B. Robinson was named chairman and Dr. Frank Sweeney, Allen Queen, and Ernest Kinsell were named to serve on the commission.

The hospital has been built on a one-floor plan to eliminate elevators. A minimum of nursing care will be required since the sections in the plus-sign pattern are easily accessible.

Morrow Countians now have the most modern obstetrical delivery room, X-ray and fracture equipment. Construction is fireproof throughout. Automatic gas boilers have been installed in case of gas failure as well as automatic standby electric systems in case of power failure. All wiring plumbing, heating and piping to the wings and tunnels are available to service without tearing up the floor.

Donations in excess of $13,000 including many gifts for rooms and equipment have been received from individuals and organizations for use in the hospital.

The Hospital Superintendent, Richard W. Claar, has served in this field for the past eight years. He served in the first American station hospital on the continent of Europe, spending time in Africa and Italy. A graduate of North High School in Columbus, he majored in pre-medical work at Ohio State University and attended University of California at Los Angeles. Mr. Claar is married, has one son, 4, Richard W. Claar Jr., and resides in Mt. Gilead.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 19th Street, 951B Beltone Building, Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.—Adv.

Dedicate New First EUB Church

Bishop Preaches Sermon; Vesper Recital Held

Dedication of the new First Evangelical United Brethren Church on S. Prospect St. yesterday drew an overflow crowd, many persons coming from a distance. Capacity of the church auditorium is 500, and extra chairs were placed for the worshipers. Several hundred were served during the open house hours from 2 p. m. until 4, and an estimated 750 heard the vesper recital which followed in which the church's new electric organ was dedicated.

Bishop Fred L. Dennis of Dayton preached the dedication sermon. Conference superintendents, Dr. V. H. Allman of the southern district and Rev. F. A. Firestone of the northern district, took part in the service. Rev. Edwin Griswold of Kansas, O., sang. A financial statement was given by M. H. Larkin, church treasurer. Rev. Don Hochstettler, pastor, led litany and dedicatory responses for ministers and people.

Robert G. Campbell of Elkhart, Ind., played the organ recital, and Rev. John Searle Jr. of Dayton was vocal soloist, accompanied at the piano by his wife. Accompanying Mr. Campbell to Marion were his wife, and his step father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hagerty of Elkhart. Present also were relatives and friends of Rev. Hochstettler. A number came from his former pastorates. Others from out of town were from EUB Churches in the area, and former members including residents of the denomination's Otterbein Home at Westerville.

Hit-Skip Mishap Investigated

The Marion County sheriff's office today was conducting an investigation of a hit-skip traffic accident Saturday night on the Campbell Road west of Marion.

A fender skirt on the Rutledge car was ripped off and the steering gear was damaged, deputies reported.

"Double Talk"

the committee was set up last April 30 "primarily to prevent our State Department from continuing its policy of appeasement to newspapers unfriendly to the west."

It was before the committee was set up, he said, that the department "obtained newsprint for left wing and Communist newspapers in four countries."

The department had said Pulliam listed these countries in a Nov. 1 dispatch carried by the Chicago Tribune News Service as India, Pakistan, Turkey and Italy.

Doesn't Think They Lied

In last night's statement Pulliam said he doesn't "belive for a minute that the publishers in these four countries lied to me" about the allocations. Pulliam has visited 81 foreign countries during the past four years.

The State Department said it ships no newsprint overseas except for "small quantities required for its information activities." Allocations by the international committee, it added, do not go directly to individual newspapers but to foreign governments which then distribute the newsprint.

Pulliam said he believed what the foreign publishers had told him "for the reason that I have it on unimpeachable authority that Secretary Acheson has been encouraging the present premier of Japan to make a trade treaty with Red China and that he has discouraged Japan from mking a treaty with Nationalist China.

Broadcast Tells of Church Campaign

On a transcribed radio broadcast in the interest of Religion in America Life Sunday afternoon, representative citizens of Marion were heard in interviews which were compiled into a quarter-hour program. This was given over WMRN here, and at different hours during the day as part of a nationally sponsored broadcast over various networks. The interviews were held last month when national RIAL committee men were here to arrange for the presentation of the national award to Marion.

Mayor Harold F. Robinson, making proclamation for Marion of RIAL Month in November was heard. Henry Mickley, speaking for the Chamber of Commerce, gave a statistical statement concerning the city. Dr. G. G. Nuetzel and Rev. R. W. Faulkner, local co-chairman of RIAL last year, told how the movement got under way here, and Mrs. Alva Gantt, past president of the Marion County Council of Church Women, told of the telephone project by which the church attendance invitation reached every family.

Others giving significant statements on how the RIAL campaign worked here included Dr. J. B. Holloway, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, this year's campaign co-chairman with Dr. Nuetzel, Max Birnbaum, Harry S. Elliott, managing editor of The Marion Star, and Robert T. Mason of the Marion Broadcasting Co.

The program was arranged as a part of the honor received by Marion nationally for its achievement in the 1950 RIAL campaign in which the work here was judged best planned and executed of any in the 2,500 communities which attempted it. A bronze plaque award was presented Marion Oct. 30. The interfaith movement is being promoted in this county again this year by civic, service club, church and rural groups.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

It's getting tougher and tougher to work for the government . . . Now employes of the U. S. High Commission in Germany are being deprived of their free servants.

This means that hundreds of government workers abroad will have to go back to washing their own socks or paying to have them washed.

One of our first lessons in democracy for the Germans was to take 1,800,000 of their women and turn them into cooks, maids and kitchen help for a bunch of government payrollers who never had a baby sitter before they went abroad.

Then we took their best houses . . . then we assessed the cost of the whole thing against the German taxpayers thereby insuring their interest in our great democratic system.

In exchange we gave them the slogan "free Germany" even if it does look to them like "free loaders."

Film on Civil Defense To Be Presented

Will Be Shown At City's Theaters Nov. 17 – Dec. 12

A film entitled "Modern Minute Men," portaining to civil defense, will be shown in Marion theaters in the coming weeks.

The picture shows the precautionary measures against a bombing attack, portrays the air raid warning system, and brings out measures being taken to prepare for rescue work and other emergencies following a bombing.

The picture, which is non-technical in nature and runs for 25 minutes, recently had a preview in Columbus before a group including Gov. Frank J. Lausche; army, civil defense and state officials; theater executives and newspapor representatives

Lausche said that regardless of the precautions made for protecting Ohio cities against attack, some planes may get through the defenses and reach strategic targets.

Best Protection

"Our best home front protection against disaster and panic in the event of such an attack will be a public well informed on what they should do to assist local defense authorities and how to care for themselves," the governor said.

The film was produced by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. in cooperation with civil defense authorities. Because of the vital importance of this subject, the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. has made arrangements to show a preview of the film Nov. 12 to community officials and those responsible for civil defense in this locality, Jack Boyd, division manager, reported.

William R. Martin, Marion County Civil Defense director, Mayor Harold F. Robinson and Chief of Police Tom Coon will attend the premier showing.

The schedule of showings in Marion theaters is as follows:

Ohio Theater, Saturday, Nov. 17 through Wednesday, Nov. 21; Palace Theater, Sunday, Nov. 18 through Tuesday, Nov. 20; Marion Theater, Saturday, Dec. 1 through Sunday, Dec. 2; State Theater, Tuesday, Dec. 11 through Wednesday, Dec. 12.

GEMS SMUGGLED. Mrs. Adele Meppen, Brooklyn, N. Y., housewife accused in connection with smuggling of a $250,000 cache found in plumbing of an upstate New York hotel, is questioned in New York by U. S Commissioner Edward Fay. Standing is U. S. Attorney George Percy.

FBI Seeking Raymond E. Young

Escaped Convict Joins "10 Most Wanted" List

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(INS)— The FBI is eager to recapture ruthless Raymond Edward Young because he is tabbed by the G-men as a "lone wolf" criminal who "must be considered extremely dangerous."

Young has been put on the FBI list of the nation's "10 Most Wanted Criminals" as a replacement for Morley Vernon King, California wife slayer, who was captured in Philadelphia Oct. 31.

A 39-year-old native of Lincoln, Neb., Young was serving a 5-year-to-life sentence at the California State Prison near Soledad when he made a daring escape on Aug. 31, 1948.

Detailed with other "model" convicts to fight a forest fire on Black Mountain, east of San Luis Obispo, he took advantage of darkness and confusion to flee.

Young was next heard of less than a month later, on Sept. 22. On that date, an acquaintance of the fugitive surprised his wife with Young, and a wild fight ensued. During it, Young fired six shots at the woman's husband, but missed his mark.

Shoots Officer

On Oct. 26, 1948, Young was halted in Los Angeles while driving a stolen car. He shot and seriously wounded the officer who halted him, and escaped.

Young's anti-social tendencies began to show when he was still in high school in Los Angeles, where his family moved from Lincoln. His first arrest — for stealing a pistol — was in 1930.

Subsequently, he was convicted of robbery, burglary, and other crimes in Lincoln, Neb.; Glendale, Calif., and Los Angeles. At the time of his last arrest, in 1945, Young admitted more than 20 burglaries in the Los Angeles area.

The FBI says of the fugitive convict:

"To those who do not know of his criminal activities, Young appears to be a quiet, well-mannered and gentlemanly individual. He does not have any friends and is the 'lone wolf' type of criminal.

"Some who have known him say that Young has suicidal tendencies. He is probably armed and must be considered extremely dangerous."

Identification Aids

Here are aids to identification:

Aliases — Edwin Larsen, Ray Young, Raymond D. Young.

Habits — Gives the impression of being quite scholarly, sometimes works as a carpenter and times works a a carpented and Bricklayer, and is very competent at that work.

Description — age, 39; height, 5 feet 9 inches; weight, 165 pounds; brown, curly hair, medium, muscular build; blue eyes ruddy complexion.

Calvary Revival Services End

Final service of the Calvary EUB Church revival was held Friday night, with Rev. H. L. Zachman of Canton preaching. Rev. R. W. Faulkner, pastor, reported good interest in the special meetings. At the close, a "prayer circle" was formed by the audience, with singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," prayer by Rev. Zachman, and the Lord's Prayer in unison, as an answer to the challenge in his sermon, "If there is someone in the world you cannot shake hands with, you are not well saved."

In his message, he said "Many times our boys and girls have more faith than we do. Many people think they can buy religion but they cannot, for they are not willing to meet the conditions Do you know the place where you were born again? Have you met God? We need to go all the way with Him Obedience is better than sacrifice. Follow Him all the way and He will give grace and glory."

GOPs In Split Between Taft, Eisenhower

Stiff Battle Seen If Ike Announces He Is Candidate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—The prospect of a battle between Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nomination appeared today to have split several state Republican organizations wide open.

Although Eisenhower has made no public announcement that he is available, he already has developed strong support among Republican national committee members, state chairmen and governors in every section of the country.

Taft, an announced candidate, led the general 42 to 25 among party officials willing to express their preferrence for a nominee in a weekend Associated Press poll Significantly, perhaps, 80 officials said they either hadn't made up their minds or wouldn't disclose their decision.

In the same group of GOP workers, totaling 147, 54 believe Eisenhower will become a candidate and 24 do not Sixty-nine didn't want to guess one way or the other.

Overlaps

The Taft and Eisenhower strength overlapped in some cases and threatened stiff state battles if the general becomes an avowed candidate.

Texas, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Maine, Delaware, Florida and Wisconsin represent possible battlegrounds. Republican officials in those states who usually have something to say about the makeup of convention delegations appeared divided in their sentiments.

Taft goes into Pennsylvania for a speech at Harrisburg tomorrow. Senator Duff (R-Pa), most active advocate of the proposed Eisenhower candidacy, will invade Louisiana for campaigning in New Orleans the same day. Taft counts Louisiana as one of his strongholds in the nomination race.

In Pennsylvania, Gov. John S. Fine and State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor disagree with Duff in the latter's contention that Eisenhower is available. Neither of the state officials has endorsed any candidate yet.

Claims General Will Not Run

PARIS, Nov. 12 —(UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will not be a candidate for president in 1952, according to U. S. Rep. George H. Bender.

The Ohio Republican, who is supporting Sen. Robert A. Taft's presidential candidacy, made his prediction yesterday following a long visit with Eisenhower.

The general denied "very emphatically" that President Truman had offered to support him for the presidency, Bender said.

Bender and three other congressmen visited Eisenhower at his headquarters here. The Ohioan said much of the talk centered around the New York times story by Arthur Krock that President Truman had offered the general support in 1952 for the presidency.

White House automobiles are not the personal property of U. S. Presidents. They are leased by the government from manufacturers, who supply the cars at nominal rates because of the publicity value.

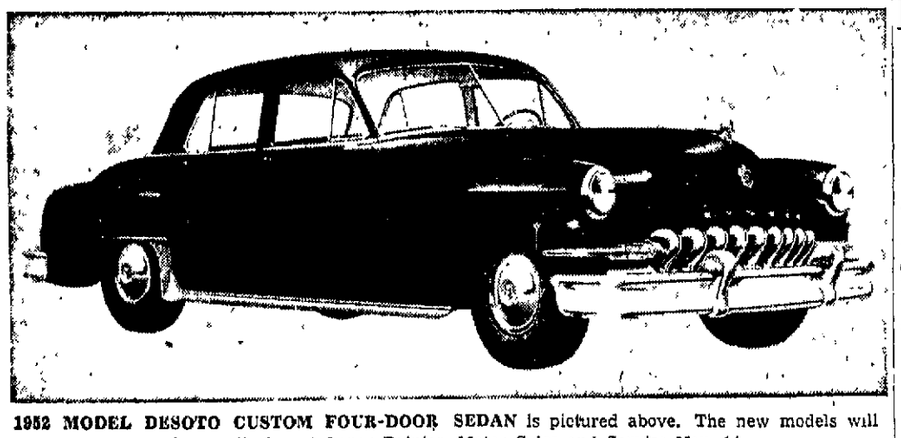
New Model DeSotos Announced



1952 MODEL DESOTO CUSTOM FOUR-DOOR SEDAN is pictured above. The new models will be on display at Larry Rainier Motor Sales and Service Nov. 14.

The new 1952 models of the DeSoto automobiles were announced today.

A custom club coupe and a custom four-door sedan will be on display at the Larry Rainier Motor Sales and Service showrooms at 136 N. Prospect St. on Nov. 14. The showrooms will be open until 9 p.m. each day.

The new models feature two-tone color combinations and the newest of modern fabrics—Nylons as well as fine woolens. There are 13 body colors to choose from plus five two-tone combinations.

Other Features

Other features are large brakes, Oriflow shock absorbers, big, low-pressure super-cushion tires rubber-insulated body mountings, between-the-axle seating, wide windshields, and chair-high seats.

Safety features include safety-rim wheels, which help the driver bring the car to a controlled stop in case of a blow-out: a strong-gripping parking brake, separate from the service brakes; large lighted driving instruments and convenient driving controls; electrically operated windshield wipers; new combined stop and back up lights mounted high on each rear fender; big, sturdy frame and bumpers. New Splex window glass, which reduces interior temperatures, will be available on some of the 1952 DeSotos.

Hood Ornament

The hood ornament has been re-designed and the DeSoto name on the hood is in single block letters instead of the previous joined script.

Interior features are a walnut grained instrument panel skirted almost to the floor, a completely shrouded steering column; walnut grained door mouldings that match the instrument panel; and front and rear carpeting on custom models.

The car is powered by the DeSoto Powermaster high-compression six-cylinder engine. The ignition system is waterproofed throughout for fast starts in any weather. It includes tip-toe hydraulic shift and Gyrol fluid drive.

The new line provides a wide choice of body models. In the custom line are the four-door sedan, club coupe; convertible coupe; eight-passenger sedan; all-steel station wagon; and the Sportsman hardtop coupe. The deluxe line includes the four-door sedan; club coupe; and carry-all sedan. The nine-passenger suburban is no longer in the DeSoto line.

Naval Air Arm To Be Bigger, Harder-Hitting

Rebuild Flattops To Accommodate Heavier Aircraft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—The substantial increase in naval air strength recommended by the Joint Chiefs of Staff will include not only more but bigger harder-hitting planes flying off the decks of new or modernized carriers.

This picture emerged today out of a discussion with naval airmen about the Navy's project to build an ultra-modern, flush-deck carrier and the planes that will be ready for her when she is finished in late 1953 or 1954.

Meanwhile, the continued program of rebuilding flight decks, elevators, hangar facilities and other topside equipment of existing carriers will make them ready for using heavier attack aircraft and the longer-range jet fighters even before new carriers are in the fleet.

Naval air strength has expanded sharply since the start of the Korean war when there were only nine air groups and 20 patrol squadrons, most of them well below authorized strength in aircraft.

A recent tally showed 14 air groups and 34 patrol squadrons. (A group averages about 105 planes now; a squadron about nine aircraft.) In addition, there are an unspecified number of composite squadrons and photographic and utility plane units.

The contract for the new carrier, the USS Forrestal, was awarded to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. last July.

Armistice Day

As we pause to pay tribute to the soldiers who gave their lives in a previous war, let us also think of the men fighting today in faraway Korea. Perhaps, too, we should more fully realize that our men in Korea are not wasting good American blood to capture this or that worthless hilltop. They are fighting an important battle, to determine whether our way of life shall continue to exist.

Taft's Best Break

ARTHUR KROCK'S story in the New York Times that Gen. Eisenhower has failed to accept President Truman's offer to make him the Democratic nominee for president is Senator Taft's best break in his campaign for the Republican nomination.

The Krock story, plausible in spite of denials from the White House and Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters, suggests there is no fundamental difference in views between the Ohio senator and the general. If they can reconcile their views on foreign policy, which Mr. Krock says Gen. Eisenhower believes may be possible, the Republican nomination could be given to Taft by unanimous consent.

There would be no reason then to nominate Gen. Eisenhower if he stood for the same policies as Senator Taft. Maddening as that thought will be to Republican voters and so-called Independents who have swallowed the CIO-Fair Deal credo that Taft could not be elected, it would not be maddening to Gen. Eisenhower. He said in 1948 that neither he nor any other military man should get into politics. Those who take his honesty for granted assume he would not change his mind about the matter unless some emergency arose.

Mr. Krock reports that the general's failure to accept Mr. Truman's offer was accompanied by mention of disagreement with the administration's position on domestic issues, including the Taft-Hartley Act. In other words, even if Eisenhower were inclined to run for president he would not be able to run as Harry Truman's political heir.

But if Eisenhower sees eye to eye with Senator Taft, then the latter clearly would have the right to run for president as the Republican nominee, with Eisenhower's support, if he cared to declare himself. That leaves only one loose end—the CIO-Fair Deal credo that Taft cannot be elected.

His opponents mouthed that nonsense in Ohio last year. If wasn't true. It would not be true in the nation. There is a popular demand for moderation and integrity in politics, and Ohio's Taft comes closer to filling that bill than any other figure in public life.

Whose Turn Next?

THE quarrel inside the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) has been patched up well enough to let striking dockworkers get back on the job. The patching-up was hastened when it became evident the dock workers intended to go back to their jobs anyway.

Before this work stoppage goes into history, two things about it should be segregated from the rest for remembrance.

The strike occurred after the responsible leadership of the Longshoremen's Association had made an agreement with management and the agreement had been ratified.

The strike demonstrated that a few thousand men in the New York area can tie up the country if they can be controlled by leaders whose principal aim is to tie up the country. It is problematic whose turn it is going to be next to disrupt the national economy with a work stoppage. But except for railroaders, already technically on strike, and steel workers, now being stirred up for a national work stoppage, no group can do more damage than dock workers in major seaports.

Theme for a Campaign

THE formal announcement by Charles P. Taft that he will seek the Republican nomination for governor in the Ohio primaries next May had been expected. There is nothing surprising in it.

But as Ohioans appraise the chances of Senator Taft's widely and well-known brother to win the Republican nomination for governor in 1952, one thing in the announcement may prove to be a political firecracker.

Mr. Taft promises that he will do everything in his power to show a connection between the Democratic administration of Frank J. Lausche and the "corrupt and dubious practices of the present national administration."

Exactly this connection was discussed in the recent campaign for mayor in the city of Cleveland, where an incumbent Democratic mayor with a following of borderline Republicans and Independents was charged with being responsible for practices under a Democratic administration in Washington.

Defenders of Mayor Burke in Cleveland replied that he had nothing to do with the Truman administration, just as Governor Lausche's friends will be quick to point out that he has nothing to do with Washington. But this kind of a reply begs the question.

Democratic rule in Washington is maintained by party strength in key cities like Cleveland and in key states like Ohio. In 1948 the Truman-Barkley ticket squeaked by in Ohio by a scant 7,000 votes, all of which would be accounted for by the heavy Democratic wards in the city of Cleveland. The only way to keep Ohio out of the Democratic column in 1952 is to whittle down the Democratic vote, a project which calls for pinning party responsibility where it belongs.

They Are Still at Work

Some Evidence in Support of "McCarthyism"

IT IS A Curious phenomenon that wherever I go these days, and I travel constantly to all parts of the country, soon enough political conversation veers toward McCarthyism. Is Joe McCarthy right, wrong or crazy?

The fact is that Senator Joe McCarthy has managed to get into the hair of those politicians who prefer smooth sailing and who find the issues that he has raised distasteful because they cannot be answered in principle even if they may be contested in detail.

SOKOLSKY

For many years, other senators and representatives and public men have raised the same issues that McCarthy has now forced two senate committees to investigate, but none of them got very far because they lacked his skill for dramatization and his courage to fight to a finish. The result is that McCarthyism is an issue in the 1952 campaign and no candidate will be able to avoid it. He will have to say whether he favors or opposes the employment of Communists in public positions. That is all that McCarthyism means.

Vice President Barkley, interviewed on "Meet the Press" last summer, fully supported McCarthy's data, giving figures that far exceeded anything that McCarthy ever said. This is the colloquy:

"Jack Bell: On the basis of that and other views which you probably have, do you think the State Department has done a good job of getting rid of Communists?

"Vice President Barkley: I think it has. I think not only the State Department but all the departments. The public doesn't know really what has happened in that field, and I am not going to say it because the departments haven't announced it; I don't care to, but the public will be surprised if they knew the number of employes who have been dismissed because of either the discovery of their communistic leanings or the suspicion that they were leaning toward the Communist theory."

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS report of this statement said:

"WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 — (AP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley told a reporter today that 2,500 to 3,500 persons had been separated from government service after loyalty inquiries.

"He previously had told a television audience that The American people would be surprised at the number of employes who had been weeded out of the government because of suspicion directed at their loyalty."

At no time did Joe McCarthy put his figures as high as 3,500 Communists in the government. Certainly he never asked that 3,500 be dismissed for being Communists. He did not know there were that many, not being on the inside as Vice President Barkley is.

I have recently been having lots of excitement with this question because I have been trying to solve the problem as to how so few Communists and fellow-travelers do so much mischief. For instance, the intricate nature of the dockers' strike in New York, which prevented ships from landing strategic war materials in this port while our sons are fighting in Korea—and dying there—has not yet been disclosed in all the antagonisms over closing down America's greatest port. A few men did that, not as an act of leadership in the achievement of a social end, but as an exercise of force in a contest for power. Into this situation entered the underground Communists as wreckers of American industrial strength.

AND NO MATTER how costly this was to the United States and to the city of New York, the administration of the city became paralyzed, incapable even of exercising its ordinary police power. The leader of the union insurgents, Gene Sampson, was the brother of the assistant to the mayor, Frank Sampson.

It is not necessary to be a party of large numbers to accomplish much when innocents can be used to do the work of our enemies. Interests are mixed. Men who would say that they despise Communists, and are sincere about it, play the Russian game to advance their temporary private affairs. As long as men will lend themselves to be used, they will be used.

The dockers' strike had no justification when Americans anywhere were giving their lives for their country. It was not a strike against employers but a struggle for control of a union. The largest port of our country was closed to decide whether an obscure labor leader by the name of Ryan or an obscure labor leader by the name of Sampson should prevail. The Communists know how to use men who measure life by personal interests only.

Bowser Makes Good

By TRUMAN TWILL

PERHAPS you have noticed advertising illustrations featuring well-tailored men in saloons, accompanied by dogs on leashes. There have been many of these lately.

Unless we do not know a tip-off when the lady of the house says to go easy on her helping at dinner when unexpected company is present, here is the beginning of a campaign to get dogs better acquainted with saloons.

It is going to be a campaign like that classic of the graphic arts when the tobacco industry broke down the barriers against the use of tobacco in public by women. Females had been ingesting snuff and puffing on pipes and cigars for generations, but the idea was to get them to smoke cigarets in public.

So little by little and bit by bit the idea was put over in pictures that the sight of a woman smoking a cigaret was nothing to call the cops about—and the tobacco people triumphed. Alice Roosevelt, later Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, began to inhale gaspers in the White House and they began to haul in the profit.

There has to be some reason for showing dogs passing the time of day in saloons. It just could not happen by accident that so many illustrators working on important advertising suddenly became dog-minded when they thought of what went over the mahogany.

The various dogs they began to draw into their pictures of grog shops were in actual competition with bartenders for the distinction of being man's best friends. They did not belong in the pictures. In fact, most grog shops have rules against dogs for the obvious reason that too many customers would yield to the classic impulse to have a little of the hair 'o the dog that bit 'em.

Something slick and sinister is afoot. There is a plan and there is a purpose in this obvious and deliberate promotion to make the presence of dogs in bars as commonplace as the presence of barflies. And we do not think it is what most readers think it is.

We doubt that the liquor industry is paving the way for the beginning of a high-pressure campaign to add dogs to their customers. That is too great a strain on credulity. We suspect this is merely a deliberate step in the direction of greater respectability for one of the oldest of all enterprises.

There could be nothing unsavory about the kind of a place where a man would go with his best dog; i.e., the kind of a dog that rates a leash. It must be that the geniuses who think up strategy for keeping everything cheerful about the cup that cheers are aware of the fact that the modern dog is a great deal better bred than his master and keeps the latter on the defensive about his lack of aristocratic ancestors as well as his lack of social stature.

Therefore, if the idea can be planted that these ultra-refined beasts are comfortable in saloons, that will have a tendency to add class to the joint, so to speak, though what it may do in the long run to the calves and ankles of the patrons is a thought too grisly to dwell on.

Our grand business is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand.—Thomas Carlyle

Taxing the Bookies

By Raymond Moley

IF CONGRESS enacted the new tax bill to reform people, the tax on bookmakers will help. But everybody thought that the President and Congress wanted to raise revenue. This feature of the new law most certainly will not help much. Certainly the estimate that it will yield $400,000,000 is a fairy tale. And fairy tales will buy no guns and pay no bureaucrats.

This estimate was based upon the guess, which is no more than that, that $4,000,000,000 are involved. Maybe so. But a 10 percent tax levied on a guess and exacted from a collection of shadows will not come out the way the multiplication table says it will.

MOLEY

Two taxes are aimed at the bookies. One is an occupation tax, which requires them to pay $50 and file their names, addresses, and occupation. Nobody except Congress expects more than a handful of this numerous profession to do anything of the sort. The bookie business is illegal everywhere except in Nevada. Thus, the bookie is expected to tell the government that he is violating the law. I grant that these people are outside the law, but they are inside the Constitution whether they know it or not. And no one can constitutionally be compelled to testify to anything that will incriminate him.

SINCE A GREAT many bookies will quit the business or operate under greater cover than ever, the wire services will probably disappear. This is the opinion of Bill Corum, the best judge I know. It will happen because the wire service is very expensive and can not be maintained for the small number of surviving bookmakers. This, continues Corum, will immensely reduce the volume of bets away from the tracks, because under a nonwire system the person who gambles will not follow up his first bet with another and another. The bookie will thus handle only the initial bet of the customer for that day.

For those who still use the bookies who will be left, the cost will rise very high. The "honest" gambling people now take from 16 to 17 percent from the customer. The 10 percent tax will bring that up to 26 to 30 percent, which is an almost impossible handicap to profit.

THIS IS BETTER, however, than the break the customer gets from slot machines in Nevada and elsewhere where they are legal. It has been noted frequently that the division of the money in such regulated places is 40 percent for the customer and 60 percent for the machine.

Wishing to test this and, I confess, also for the entertainment, I experimented in four Nevada towns last summer. My method was to use 100 nickles per test and put the money that came out in a separate pile not to be "reinvested" then. The break averaged almost exactly at the 40-60 level. The cost of the "entertainment" was around $8 for the hour consumed each time.

This return to the customer is high compared with what he is accorded in the places where the "slots" are illegal. There, the customer is sometimes lucky to get 10 per cent back of what he puts in.

IN THE CASE of the tax on racing, the result may be to increase the amount spent at the tracks and in pari-mutuels. Corum considers this a possibility but not a certainty.

The reform objective of Congress will be effective because betting through bookies will greatly decline. Perhaps the dollars saved will flow into more useful and productive and taxable channels. But for revenue sources, Congress will have to look elsewhere.

Heart Operation Successful

CHICAGO

MITRAL STENOSIS, the narrowing of one of the valves of the left side of the heart, can now be considered curable as a result of a number of successful corrective operations, it was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Seventy-four percent of the 214 persons suffering from the disease on whom they have operated have either improved or are now in excellent condition, Drs. Thomas J. E. O'Neill, Robert P. Glover and Charles P. Bailey, of Philadelphia, stated. The doctors performed the first such successful operation June 10, 1948.

The object of the operation is to cut and enlarge the valve in such a manner as to allow a greater flow of blood from the left auricle (chambers of the heart), and to reduce hypertension of the lung vessels.

The doctors pointed out, however, that the operation should only be performed on certain types of patients. Suitable candidates for the operation include those patients in whom symptoms of various kinds remain constant for relatively long periods of time, those with severe disabilities and tragic complications, and those rendered practically useless because of loss of strength.

Persons suffering from mitral stenosis who have no symptoms and who are not handicapped, and those with hopeless degenerative infections or tumorous diseases of other organs should not be operated upon, the doctors said.

Of the 214 persons upon whom the doctors operated, 29 (13 percent) showed little or no improvement, and 26 (12.6 percent) died. The deaths were mainly due to hemmorhage, blood clot of the brain or regurgitation of blood back through the enlarged opening of the valve.

Mitral stenosis, a fairly common disease, is an acquired one, mostly following attacks of rheumatic fever. According to the report, the basic problem, formerly considered medical, has always been surgical, since the fault is a mechanical stricture.

Medical treatment of the severe cases in the past, it was pointed out in the report, resulted in unhampered progression to death or the complete invalidism of the patient. It added that "the only real hope, therefore, is correction or favorable alleviation of the basic pathological process" by means of surgical treatment.

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The village of New Bloomington was known as Carey Station, Belfast and Agosta. Its oldest name was derived from two men, W. M. Carey and Wingate Carey, who laid out the village in 1856. Some years later each of the Careys made an addition, W. W. Carey donating a lot to the Methodist Church. The first drygoods and grocery store was opened by W. W. Carey and A. and George H. Smallwood, under the firm name of Carey & Smallwoods. In 1871, James Elliott went from Marion and established a general store.

Congress Quiz

Q—Does the new tax law change the excise taxes?

A—Yes, it provides on over-all increase of $1,200,000,000. Items bearing higher excises include cigarets, gasoline, some sporting goods, automobiles, liquor and photographic film. New taxes go no bets, bookies and a variety of previously untaxed appliances. Excises were reduced on photographic equipment, telegrams and snuff, chewing and smoking tobacco. Excise levies were taken off all baby oil, electricity, tires for toys, phone calls from G. I.'s in combat zones, and to benefit performances.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mr. Halley Wins a Gamble

Rudolph Halley, Kefauver Committee quizmaster, asked the voters of New York for a straight "yes" or "no" and did not get the old "I refuse to answer on the ground it might incriminate or degrade me" routine. It was as though he pointed an accusing finger at Civic Conscience, after a little fencing, and gave out with the rasping, "Now then where were you on Nov. 6, 1951?" Little did the Senate Crime Committee think that its agent, the arch foe of gambling, would become one of the biggest gamblers in political history, entering the game as a longshot and winning pulled up. The sensational victory of the boy-wonder who has the facial expression of an olive with eyeglasses, the voice of a bullfrog and the mind of a two-pin Phi Beta Kappa scholar was a standout among Tuesday's election results. It was the first big test of video as a campaign influence.

PHILLIPS

Rudy's face had become as familiar as Howdy Doody's to millions through the Kefauver telecasts. His voice had become as familiar as Fred Allen's (and not a lot unlike it). His tortoise-shell eyeglasses had grown into a trademark as well known as Bobby Clark's. He is not a warm personality; he doesn't suggest friendliness. But on the video he had become a symbol of virtue over evil, a sort of White Knight in Kefauver clothing. Rudy conveyed an indisputable "I ain't fooling, bub" impression in his war on crookedness. In the public reaction to vice and corruption in government, he was a natural.

Many factors, including an attempt to inject a bigotry issue, helped him. But the Ericksons, the Costellos and the Adonises rate an "assist." In fact he owes a lot to them. Their attitude in the Kefauver telecasts played into his hands and made a hero of him. It was the fuss raised by Costello and others over being televised that made the hearings a big show, with Rudy the top star. They made Halley look good and while they didn't realize it, started him on a career that put him in public office and that can make him Mayor of New York. Rudolph Halley owes his election, more or less, to two short sentences, "I decline to answer" and "I don't remember." Every time a witness gave out with them at the Kefauver telecasts he shoved Rudy a step nearer the mayoralty and maybe the governorship. If he had a personality smile, looked good in a Rough Rider suit and showed an interest in African hunting, well, who knows? Teddy Roosevelt got his start in a war on crookedness in New York.

Halley shapes up like a combination of Fiorello LaGuardia, Ned Sparks, Tom Dewey, Captain Video, Sherlock Holmes, Diogenes, Ted Atkinson, Jack the Giant Killer and The Boy Who Stood on the Burning Deck. Kefauver wrote a book. Halley may be writing a saga. The senator merely embarrassed Bill O'Dwyer, but Rudolph has almost taken Bill's old job. LaGuardia was "The Hat." Halley is already being called "The Headlight." Anti-crime matches on! And the latest diagnosis of the Tammany Tiger's trouble is "Halley-tosis."

TWENTY YEARS AGO — It was Thursday, Nov. 12, 1931.

Efforts of Walter and Blanton Ralls of Crestline to escape the electric chair as a penalty for the murder of Sheriff George Davenport of Crawford County, failed when Gov. White decided against granting commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. Their executions were set for Friday night. Sheriff Davenport was shot to death in January when he sought to arrest one of three men on charges of chicken stealing. The third of the trio was Elijah Ralls, uncle of Blanton. He was slain by officers at Bucyrus when he attempted to escape while being questioned following the killing of Sheriff Davenport. Walter and Blanton Ralls were uncle and nephew, respectively.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

IN A PLUSH restaurant on West 56th Street the other day, the nation's underworld syndicate chiefs met for eight solid hours to reorganize their sprawling gambling empires, wilting under the heat of the Kefauver crusade and the Halley campaign. Later, in the same restaurant, the country's two top multi-millionaire gambling overlords sat together for some hours more.

These portly men, in their pinstriped suits, have labor connections which bring them millions out of the big factories, but nowhere, in all those gangland deliberations, was there a racketeering reference to the CIO meeting just 14 blocks further down town.

Victor Riesel

In fact, the only slot machine with even a remote CIO touch was found some time ago in a National Maritime Union shack, which acted as headquarters for its Alberta, Michigan, local of auto-ferry boatmen. When NMU officers Joe Curran and Hedley Stone learned of it they telephoned across country asking, "How come?" The little man in the shack said, "Some one left it there." Stone snapped, "Throw it in the river." That's where it went—fast.

WHY THEN such emphasis on racketeering in this 13th CIO Constitutional convention? Answer that, and you have the whole motif of this vital five-day parley of the men who lead 6,000,000 workers in the very heart of the country's defense machine. The CIO is on the offensive. It has been angrily so since the first day Phil Murray hit town and told the AFL it could "Go to hell" if it planned merely to swallow up CIO.

The anti-racketeering resolution was aimed both at warning a tiny handful of CIO low echelon officials not to try and pick up an easy buck by acting as agents for the mobs—and at publicly challenging the AFL to clean house. Passed in the midst of the most effective dock strike in history on the racket-ridden New York waterfront, this resolution came with terrific impact.

It followed swiftly the CIO's adoption of a formula to end inner union jurisdictional civil wars. This too was adopted at a strategic moment for CIO. Just as Phil Murray disclosed that all CIO unions had signed a pact, enforceable in the courts, pledging that no CIO union would raid another, big AFL unions were in a bitter, time-eating feud over control of workers at the Savannah River H-Bomb installations. And at 13 other key spots as well.

FURTHERMORE, it should be reported that there was another motive for development of this jurisdictional formula. Behind the scenes, among the policy makers of this convention, it was pointed out that Phil Murray, aware of the AFL's and John Lewis' efforts to raid CIO, knew that this civil war pledge would keep all CIO unions intact.

How? Inside CIO from now on, every CIO union knows exactly what its jurisdiction is and no force can remove it. But once out of the fold, any CIO group which threatens to bolt, knows that it can be cut to pieces by bigger AFL and Lewis unions. That was a very important factor in Mr. Murray's startling suggestions on this problem at the highly secret CIO vice president's meeting in Washington's Hotel Statler late last August.

The fantastic scheme was unfolded at the CIO convention in the Hotel Commodore by W. Parker Kennedy, head of the 210,000-member Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. He described what he charged was a bazarre attempt to lure him behind the Iron Curtain for "special treatment" and told of two mysterious phone calls that led him to call in the FBI.

Kennedy revealed the plot while appealing to the CIO to join with the independent railroad unions and the AFL to form a labor army of 17,000,000 members to fight Communism all over the world.

It centered, he said, around an invitation reaching him last May 12 from Dascalu Coman, head of the transport workers in Bucharest, to spend his summer vacation in Romania—"in one of our sanatoria or rest homes belonging to our trade unions."

A few days before he received the letter, Kennedy explained, he got a phone call from a man with a heavy accent warning him:

"Kennedy, I can't talk long. I may be followed. I want to warn you. Don't leave the country! Accept no invitation to speak behind the Iron Curtain. Believe me! Trust me! Don't go!"

The night the invitation came he got a second phone call with a similar warning, he said.

Kennedy notified the FBI, he explained, because he was convinced he was being invited to Romania to be instilled with the Communist ideology, and, if that failed, to be "drugged or hypnotized" in a sanitorium until he became a Communist pawn.

"They intended, I'm certain, to make me call strikes at crucial moments," he said, "to sabotage our key transportation arteries, cease movements of war and peace materials, halt the flow of men and arms to Korea, stop mails, food, and fuel, cause inexplicable breakdown of troop trains, blow up passenger trains, and completely paralyze our country's activity that in any way depends on the railroads."

Rail Union Head Tells of Communist Plot Against Him

NEW YORK

A COMMUNIST cloak-and-dagger plot to "dope, drug or hypnotize" one of America's foremost railroad union officials into strangling the U. S. transportation arteries via strikes and wrecks was disclosed here.

THEY MADE IT, After many trials and tribulations, Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner cut their wedding cake in Philadelphia home of dress maker Lester Sacks. Now they're on honeymoon and an attempt to live happily ever after.

Retail Sales High in Area

Lead Non-Metropolitan Sections of Ohio

Retail stores in Ohio Area 2, which includes Marion County, sell more goods per person than stores in any other non-metropolitan area in Ohio, according to a report by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

That report was included in the November issue of the Chamber of Commerce Bulletin. The area includes Marion, Allen, Seneca, Hancock, Mercer, Auglaize, Hardin, Wyandot, Crawford, Union and Logan Counties.

In 1948, retail sales averaged $933 per capita, the highest volume of sales per person in the eight farming areas and ninth highest when ranked with all 21 economic areas in Ohio.

The report said the area ranked higher in respect to bank deposits and savings than most economic areas in the state including several metropolitan areas. With $169,000,000 in demand deposits of commercial banks within its borders, the area ranked sixth among Ohio's 21 economic areas

Savings accounts in the area were listed at $252,000,000 for a per capita average of $562 This placed the area fifth among the 21 areas

Install New Lights In Bucyrus Schools

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Installation of fluorescent lights for the Bucyrus High School building received the approval of the board of education following a several-month study of replacements for the present lighting system, which has been in use for more than 25 years.

Selection of the type of fixtures has been left to the board's grounds and building committee. The project will cost between $30,000 and $35,000, I. James Miller, superintendent, reported

The board has also authorized the purchase of a calculator, a comptometer, dictaphone and filing system for use in the commercial department at a total cost of about $1,800.

A proposal to purchase a bus to transport athletic teams and other school organizations to other cities has been turned over to the finance committee, headed by Roy Widman. Half of the cost of the bus would be paid out of the school's athletic fund.

Since World War II research has been carried on in Mexico to boost corn production by use of new hybrid strains.

Spoiling a Wife

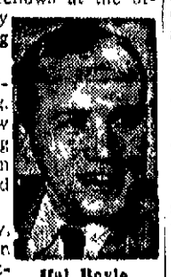
By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THERE is only one way to spoil a wife. Present her "what she wishes."

Give her your youth. What is that? You can always save your second childhood for yourself.

Give her your money. What is money? You can always borrow from the fellows at the office—and worry about paying them back.



Hal Boyle

There is another thing. Promise to show her an evening out on the town — a gay, mad evening of fun.

Naturally, what with an evening out costing what it does, you don't offer this lure lightly. It takes only half the earnings of a lifetime.

She (the heroine) may give you the impression she would like to have a quiet evening at home with you.

* * *

BUT IF YOU GIVE IN to her whim and spend the evening at home you will not only spoil her—you will ruin your future married life. She may subconsciously get the idea that you ought to come home to her every night after work.

This will create two problems.

1.—What the devil will you do with her?

2.—What the devil will she do to you?

To those two problems civilization—like savagery before it—is struggling for a civilized answer. There is none.

But to get back to the main problem—how are you going to guarantee your wife a night out, and spoil her?

One way is to be romantic—give her something to live for. Under the present theory you plant an apple core in the ground and tell your gal that when the tree that springs from it is as tall as she is—well, the drinks and the night out are on you.

OF COURSE, THE ONLY fair thing a man with a wild idea of justice like that can do is to marry a tall girl, and second, to go out every spring and fall and trim the tree so that it is spread wide and doesn't grow higher.

But the best way to spoil a woman is to give her the best years of your life, your money, and still lure her on with the false and eternal promise that some night you will take her out into the society of the people she wants to meet.

And if you really yearn to spoil her forever—dance with her once.

No wife can resist a husband as reckless as that.

Moral: any man who thinks he can give a woman an even break is already half an hour late.

Signs for '52

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK

THE VOTER giveth and the voter taketh away. And John Q. Citizen laid about with a big stick known as the ballot on election day, distributing his lumps about equally between Democrats and Republicans wherever he found either trafficking with Satan.

If I were the brain trust of either major party, I'd throw away the tea leaves and start studying the election returns for signs and portents of things to come in '52.

It scarcely requires the perspicacity of a seventh son of a seventh son born with a veil to realize that in community after community old John Q. went to the polls last week fed up with all the boys of both parties who had been caught with their hands in the till just as the flash bulb went off.

Inez Robb

Wherever he could, John Q registered his rage at dishonesty in public office.

JUST BEFORE THE election, a lot of political pundits wrote powerful "think" pieces for the papers, explaining that Tuesday's widely scattered elections would give no clue to '52.

Another group of pundits, writing equally powerful pieces for the slick magazines, have recently been wringing their typewriters because of widespread laxity in public morals and ethics. This bunch of heavy thinkers bewailed public apathy on ethical issues and predicted the voter was so case-hardened to official graft and corruption that he would shrug it off at the polls.

Both groups of pundits couldn't have been wronger. Old John Q. and his family proved that the voter is busting out all over with moral indignation.

Old John's ethical dander is up, and wherever he had a chance, he threw the rascals out. If the political pundits don't think that's a portent or three for '52, let 'em trade their typewriters in for a crystal ball and a tent.

EVERY POLITICO in Tuesday's election underestimated the urge of the average citizen for honesty and decency in public office. It is very chic nowadays, especially in literature, to paint the average Joe as a dull, rapacious jerk, no better than he should be and onery to boot.

But the truth of the matter is that the average citizen is at least sufficiently honest to stay out of jail all his natural life, harbors decent impulses, seldom if ever robs a poor box, tries to walk in the way of righteousness, brings his children up to be a credit to the community and keeps his nose clean.

Anyone who thinks the average American is asleep at the switch should study what happened to one Herman Methfessel, a district attorney in Staten Island.

NO ONE HAD ever heard of Methfessel outside his own bailiwick until a few months ago when he caused, allegedly without due process, the arrest of a housewife who testified against him at a probe into gambling and general corruption on the island.

One had read about this kind of thing in Russia and Nazi Germany, but not in America. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey removed him at once as prosecuting officer in the gambling probe.

Now John Q Citizen has removed him for good, by a vote of two-to-one, as district attorney.

As for Rudolph Halley, the Independent elected president of the New York City Council, no one, on the eve of election, thought he had an outside chance

But Mr. Halley won, not because he is pretty on TV, or because he is the glamorous gangbuster of the Kefauver Crime Committee, but because the voters are sick of Tammany and sick of the horrible stench of graft in the police and fire departments. And sick for a taste of decent, honest municipal government, minus Costello-ism.

It might be wise, for the pundits of '52 not to underestimate the basic honesty of the American voter and his terrible hunger for honesty in government.

AN ANNIVERSARY DINNER, in observance of the organization of Eta Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority, was held by members of the chapter Friday evening at Ringer's Inn. The main table in the dining room was centered with an arrangement of chrysanthemums, while decorations on the smaller tables throughout the rooms were in keeping with the fall season and included arrangements of fruits, gourds and foliage.

Guest speaker for the program was Miss Clara Gillan, who spent this last summer in New York City during which time she lived at International House while attending Columbia University. The subject of her talk was "Spotlight on the United Nations," in which she discussed the work and functions of the United Nations organization. Miss Gillan was introduced by Miss Margaret Topliff, program chairman.

Miss Clara Alice Wilson, president, presided for a business session during which plans were made to prepare four packages of food and clothing, two to be sent to Finland and two to Korea.

Serving on the hostess committee for the evening were Miss Ruth Edwards, Miss Elibeth Withrow, Miss Ruby Williams, Mrs. Marvin L. Brown, Mrs. Nellie Irey and Miss Violet McBride.

"MODERN MUSIC" will be the theme for the program when the Marion Junior Lecture-Recital Club meets Wednesday evening, Nov. 14, at the home of Anita Porter at 489 Courtland Terrace. Assisting the hostess will be Jerry Gillis and Ben Bechtel.

For the program, Sally Schneider and Ben Bechtel will discuss the lives of two modern composers, Roy Harris and Howard Hanson, and members of the club will relate facts which they have learned concerning the musicians. Music on the program will include vocal numbers by Mary Jo Garber and Evelyn Price, and a piano selection by Ben Bechtel.

Anita Porter will accompany the group in singing the national collect, and Carol Hoch will be accompanist for the singing of the national hymn.

President of the club is Ed Porter, and Mrs. John Lacey is counselor.

Election of officers for the new year was held when the Mad Hatters Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. William Snyder on Merkle Ave. Mrs. Betty Bell was elected president, Mrs. Lenore Whiteman, vice president, Mrs. Marge Berry, secretary, and Mrs. Ruth Key, treasurer. Prizes during the social hour were won by Mrs. Jerry Schneider, Mrs. Lyda Guy, Mrs. Donna Callahan and Mrs. Marge Berry. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Loa Gianoro on Willow St.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Merchant of 216 Boone Ave. will observe their 40th wedding anniversary Tuesday, Nov. 13. No special celebration has been planned. The couple were married Nov. 13, 1911, in Covington, Ky.

They have one daughter, Mrs. Belle V. Hale of Columbus. Mr. Merchant is employed as a caretaker at the Marion Cemetery.

A special Armistice Day program was presented when Mrs. Sam Foos entertained the Treasure Hunters Club Thursday afternoon at her home south of Brush Ridge. Group singing of the National Anthem and the Pledge to the Flag by the members opened the meeting, and Mrs. Walter Turney conducted devotions. Fifteen members responded to roll call by telling how they could be better citizens. The program topic, "Ideals and Principles by Which This National Was Created and Developed," was presented by Mrs. Rollie Hite. Mrs. Robert Rea, president, presided for the meeting during which 12 Christmas boxes were packed to be sent to servicemen from the Brush Ridge community. Names were drawn for a Christmas exchange to be held Dec. 13 at the home of Mrs. Rollie Hite.

Art Club Receives Letters From Congressmen

LETTERS received from Senator Bricker, Congressman Betts and Jack Martin, Senator Taft's administrative assistant, in reply to petitions sent out recently by the Marion Art Club were read at a meeting of the Art Club Thursday evening at the Federation Home.

In the petitions, the club asks for equality of consideration of the consumer's welfare in the matter of today's "fantastic" meat prices.

The letter from Mr. Betts reads in part as follows: "I am sure we would all like to see lower food prices. If we could have a rent, wage, and price freeze, we might be able to stop the spiraling cost of living, but the present administration has been opposed to that method of control. To date, there has been nothing done, to eliminate control of prices.

"I can assure you, however, that I have given this matter serious consideration, and have done everything which I personally felt was necessary to keep prices from rising."

Senator Bricker's reply says in part: "The last price control law passed by Congress provided that all prices could be rolled back to the pre-Korea price level, allowing an adjustment only for actual increased costs to the merchant since that time and before July 26, 1951.

"Since July, no increases are allowed on the basis of increased cost."

Preceding the club meeting, a group of members met for an action class in painting, with Alexanders Ievins, an artist who came to this country from Latvia, as the instructor. A graduate of the Academy of Art in Latvia, Mr. Ievins demonstrated his technique of painting by producing, within a short space of time, a characteristic scene of Latvia, with thatched roof covered cabins and quaint fences. Mr. Ievins, in painting mixes and applies the color to the canvas with a painting knife, not with a brush. The knife looks like a miniature trowel but is very flexible.

The remainder of the club members joined the action class for the painting demonstration and the regularly scheduled program was postponed until the next meeting.

In the club business session, a letter of appreciation from the library of the flood disaster area of Marion, Kan., for books sent there by Mrs. George Frank was read. More books, such as fiction, reference, historical and children's stories, which Marion women might have would be appreciated by the Kansas town. The next meeting of the club will be Nov. 29 at the Federation Home.

DAHLIAS

As soon as the frost has blackened the tops of your dahlias, get a good spading fork and go to work. The tuber you planted last spring will have grown to a large clump, so start digging at an adequate distance from the stem. You will probably need a helper to steady the top, or working with another fork on the other side. Dig far down under the roots, and then heave the whole clod to the surface. Cut off the top and allow the clump to dry in the sun for four or five hours. Store where the temperature will not rise above 55 degrees or go below 40.

Line storage boxes with paper and pack the tubers in soil, sand, peat moss or vermiculite. Examine the tubers periodically to see that they are not becoming dry, and that they are not becoming mildewed from too much moisture. Put different varieties in separate boxes, so that they will be ready for spring planting. Do not divide clumps until you are ready to plant in the spring.

Complaints of an Unemployed Comedian

Sam Levenson, one of the few genuine humorists to come along in quite a spell, was complaining the other day about getting $150,000 a year from CBS for doing nothing. Well, almost nothin. He's on the panel of "This Is Show Business," but he doesn't count this as honest toil, "I'm being kept under contract—the negative type contract, so I won't go to NBC.

His old show at 7 p.m. Saturdays was so warm, human, appealing and fresh — especially fresh—that it appalled the old guard at CBS. They'd like him to emcee a variety show, something, he explains wistfully, with the big ballet numbers. He flatly refused to get mixed up with this sort of operation. "So they put on 'Take It or 'Lump It!' or 'Beat the Clock' or 'Bang Your Head'."

John Crosby

It was suggested that earning all that money for doing nothing was nice work if you could get it, but Levenson shook his head, gloomily. "So people start whispering. What's with Levenson? He's lost his touch? He's a Communist? They fired him?" Levenson can't stop working, even though expensively unemployed. "I get going on a nice little story —then I stop and say 'Why am I doing all this work, I haven't got a show. I'm like the man in the barber chair. Somebody runs in and yells 'Jones, Jones, your house is on fire!' He jumps up and starts running down the street. Then he stops and says 'Why am I running? My name isn't Jones.'"

LEVENSON'S standards for his "little stories" are extraordinarily high. He is striving earnestly for genuine folk humor of such honesty that everyone will recognize it as having happened to himself. A good example of this sort of thing is what he calls his "good night closet." "Everybody's got a good night closet. You know, the one right next to the front door. People say good night and walk right into the closet." It must have happened to everyone.

Levenson thinks that all humorous situations have been pretty well explored in proverbs or in folk humor and he's a great collector of both. The whole plot of "The Man Who Came To Dinner," he points out, was stated very succinctly in a seven-word proverb: "Fish and guests stink after three days." A good joke or story, he feels, should be almost a one-act play.

"TAKE MY STORY about Mama and the pushcart peddler. Mama had to bargain. Eight kids? With eight kids you got to bargain or nobody eats. And the peddler—he's poor, too. So one day on his cart there's a rusty old spoon. 'How much?' says mama. 'A penny,' says the peddler. 'Too much,' says mama. 'So? says the peddler. 'Make me an offer.'" A story like that tells volumes about the life on Orchard Street, about mama and also about the peddler.

"Milton Berle, fellows like that, think humor has to have a victim. I don't think humor has to have a victim." This point of view keeps Levenson greatly at odds with his writers, whose material he practically never uses. "I put in, maybe, a bit about mama taking a swipe at us kids. Right away the writers jump on it. Pretty soon she's cuffing us in every script. They make a monster out of mama. That's not the point. It's what made mama irritable."

Weddings

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Charlotte M. Stine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stine of near Shelby, and Edward P. Auer, son of Mr and Mrs. Frank Auer of Mansfield, former residents of Crestline. The wedding took place Saturday, Nov. 3, at 10 o'clock in the morning in the Shelby Settlement with Rev. Frederick Abair reading the single ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white skinner satin and Venice lace.

Miss Mary Stine of near Ashley served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Marlene Stine of near Ashley and Miss Sandra Fisher of Crestline.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was Francis Auer of Mansfield, and ushers were Al Auer of Crestline and James Stine.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. They will live at 128 N. Pearl St. in Crestline.

Mrs. Auer attended Shelby High School and is employed in the office of Dr. E. D. Dowd. Mr Auer attended Crestline High School and is employed with the Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Mansfield.

LEVENSON is a great reader of all sorts of American authors—Mark Twain, Hemingway, Dos Passes, Faulkner—and he marks down recurring situations as something common to all of us. If they don't recur, they are something special to the author and he won't use them. This is a pretty tough test of humor, but Levenson thinks that humor should be a form of release for the listener. He has always been greatly impressed by Sigmund Freud's "Technique of Wit and Humor," in which Freud stated that humor should delve into the subconscious and release a knot in the listener. Hearing a story which touches on his own experience, the man in the audience thinks: "Hey, I'm normal."

Red Chinese "Shakedown" Is Charged

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12 —(AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) says he has asked the State Department to investigate reports of a Red China shakedown racket rumored to have extorted millions of dollars from Chinese-Americans.

Knowland said he would seek to have cases brought before the United Nations as a "menace to international morality and human rights."

Lee Dai-Ming, editor of the (San Francisco) Daily Chinese World, said many Chinese-Americans had sent sums ranging from $250 to as high as $100,000 to pay "taxes, fines or rent" levied on relatives in Red China.

"No direct demand for blood money is made," Lee said, "but word is sent out through relatives or intermediaries, usually in the British colony of Hong Kong. Then the Communists wait for the money to come in.

"When it comes they ask for more. If it doesn't come, they apply torture and, eventually, death."

CHURCH AUXILIARY MEETS

Newly elected officers are Mrs. C. H. Lindsey, president: Miss Genevieve Burt, vice president; Miss Mary T. Smith, secretary, and Miss Helen Atchinson, treasurer. Miss Irene Reynolds had charge of the stewardship program. Mrs. E. O. Smith talked on missions. Mrs. LaVerna Pratt was enrolled as a new member, and Mrs. Lewis Uhl was guest.

Apple-Nut Syrup for Pancakes

SMELL the bacon frying? The unmistakable fragrance of steaming hot coffee? And the piece de resistance — golden brown pancakes? Then the table's set for a breakfast that has the family jumping out of bed without an alarm clock. Be sure there's plenty of hot syrup—apple-nut for a new tempting taste—add gay dishes, bright linen and join the family in a meal that's as American as America itself.

APPLE-NUT SYRUP

- 3 T chopped pecan meats
- 3 T butter, melted
- 1 cup maple-blended syrup
- ½ t cinnamon
- Dash of salt
- 1 1/3 cups thinly sliced tart apples

Brown nuts lightly in butter in saucepan. Remove nuts; add syrup, cinnamon, and salt. Add apple slices, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Remove cover and simmer 3 minutes longer. Remove from heat; add nuts. Serve at once on waffles, pancakes, or French toast. Makes about 2 cups.

Legion Backs OSU Trustees

COLUMBUS, Nov. 12—(AP)—The Franklin County Council of the American Legion has adopted a resolution supporting the speaker screening rule at Ohio State University.

It urged the university trustees to keep the rule in force so the university may remain "unsolled by any conspiracy."

The rule requires that all campus speakers be approved in advance by university president Howard L. Bevis.

The trustees and others have defended it as a way to deny university facilities to subversives.

The Legion council's resolution said in part:

"Many listed subversive groups and other persons have frequently harped on academic freedom. The American Legion believes in and supports academic freedom but strongly contends that academic freedom and license are two different things."

The resolution said the trustees must "see to it that this university remains a constructive educational institution having no place therein for any false teachings or radicalism."

The federal reserve board reports that 61 per cent of all people in the $3,000-a-year and under class made more than they spent. Three per cent broke even and 32 per cent spent more than they saved.
